Students Storm U.S. Legation In Budapest

BLUE RIBBON PANEL—The President's special dock strike panel reports to him at White House that longshore leaders have turned down its recommendations that striking dockworkers return to their jobs immediately at Gulf and South Atlantic ports but agreed to resume work at North Atlantic ports and other ports where contract agreements had been reached. Longshoremen, Wives Happy

Strike Along East, Gulf Coast Ends, Some Ports Still Closed

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of longshoremen swarmed back to the piers in major ports Saturday, ending the major share of a $2 billion, 33-day strike along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Other longshoremen, holding out on contract terms, still were idle in South Atlantic and West Gulf cities.

Winches hummed in the task of loading or unloading hundreds of ships to get them moving again in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans and a number of other ports.

Back-to-work cities also included Portland, Maine; Providence, R.I.; and Baton Rouge, La.

The men who returned expressed pleasure at being on the job again — particularly at starting out at time and a half pay for weekend work.

Their wives were happy, too, and not only at the prospect of having paychecks come to the households again.

"They're glad to get us out of the house and from underfoot," a New York longshoreman said with a grin after his month of idleness. His fellow workers smiled and nodded.

The basic pay rate in New York under the new contract is $3.86 an hour. At time and a half, the men get $5.04 an hour, or $40.32 for an eight-hour day. Some were working more than eight hours. Wage scales in other ports are similar.

Ship owners, who had been pressing through the courts and the National Labor Relations Board, to get the ships moving were happy, also.

Chinese Massing Troops At Border, British Report

LONDON (AP)—The Sunday Times reported Sunday that Red Chinese troops had been observed crossing into North Viet Nam and that big concentrations of Chinese forces are massing near the North Viet Nam-China border.

The reports were contained in a front-page story compiled from information filed by two of the paper's correspondents — Richard Hughes in Hong Kong and an unnamed special correspondent in Saigon.

75 TIMES JOHN ASKED CLEMENCE TO BE HIS VALENTINE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the 75th time, John asked Clemence to be his valentine.

"Who'd bother with you?" laughed Clemence, who's been married to him for three quarters of a century.

"Marrying him was the worst mistake of my life," quipped Clemence Scohy, who'll be 94 years old Sunday, Valentine's Day.

"Married to the same man that long — I should have had seven husbands."

The Valentine question is a ritual the light-hearted Scohys have observed since they met and married March 7, 1889, at a glass factory in Fostoria. Their families came from the same area of Belgium, but they didn't know each other until both went to work in the glass factory.

They spoke a little English when they were wed — and almost weren't married because of the unfamiliarity with this country.

"We got the license at the courthouse and thought we were married," Mrs. Scohy recalled. "We were eating our wedding supper when a German fellow came in and told us we had to find a preacher."

Scohy, also 94, continued to work in the glass industry and for a time had his own company in Sistriviera, W.Va. They came to Columbus 25 years ago.

A son died eight years ago. A daughter lives near here.

Their secret of living together so long is that they "never get mad together."

"When he gets mad, I don't," Mrs. Scohy explained. "When it's my turn, he doesn't get mad."

Charge Decatur Man With Arson

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A Decatur factory worker who police said admitted hiring two Taylorville, Ill., men to set fire to his home for insurance money has been charged with arson.

One of the two was killed Friday when an explosion ripped away the rear part of the one-story frame home. He was identified through papers Saturday as Charles Donald Neville, 18. Police say his body was burned beyond recognition.

The homeowner, Glenn Eckles, 28, and his stepbrother, Richard K. Bush, 24, of Taylorville, were charged with arson and held for appearance in Circuit Court at Decatur. Police said Eckles admitted hiring Neville and Bush for $200 each to set his home afire so he could collect insurance.

Police Chief James May said Neville's body was found in a utility room in the house. He said Neville had apparently been spreading gasoline in the kitchen when the pilot light in the gas stove ignited the gasoline fumes, causing the explosion and fire.

The fire caused an estimated $13,000 damage. Police said only a shell remained when the flames were doused.

"The specter of another Korea-style struggle with Communist China suddenly appeared over Southeast Asia Saturday as reports began to come in that units of the Chinese People's Liberation army had begun moving into the satellite state of North Viet Nam," the article said.

The story reported only two battalions of troops had been sighted actually moving into North Viet Nam. But the article said:

"Reports (from Hong Kong) of U.S. air reconnaissance over South China pay particular attention to Nanning on the line to Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam. Military rolling stock including freight trucks and carriages are said to be concentrated at Nanning in considerable numbers."

The article said since the Tonkin Gulf incident six months ago Nanning had become the headquarters for a force of some 200,000 troops.

Some 200,000 troops entering North Viet Nam were said to have been seen on the highway running parallel with the Nanning-Hanoi railroad.

Probe Takeover Of Some Banks By Hoodlums

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal grand juries are probing the takeover of a few commercial banks by notorious hoodlums of the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate, government sources reported Saturday.

The Associated Press learned that investigators are scrutinizing evidence that the hoodlums of the organized crime empire are draining these banks of their assets and nibbling away at their capital structures with unsecured big loans to their cronies.

Investigators said that the mobsters are making a mockery of good banking practices with fiscal maneuverings that ignore the traditional mainstays of the U.S. banking system — trustworthiness and integrity.

One official emphasized that only a few banks—perhaps fewer than a dozen—appear to be involved in what is a relatively new twist in Cosa Nostra operations. He emphasized that the banks under investigation remain in operation.

The Cosa Nostra—Italian for "our thing" or "our affair"—is a national network of gangs or "families" ruling underworld affairs and pulling in millions of dollars annually from narcotics, gambling, rackets and semi-or pseudo-legitimate business ventures.

Government officials refuse to name the banks now under scrutiny or to discuss their locations since investigations are under way. The best information, however, is that they are not limited to the big cities and that most are in the Midwest and the East.

MARK 150 YEARS OF PEACE BETWEEN CANADA AND U.S.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — White doves of peace flew over the Maple Leaf flag and the Stars and Stripes on Saturday after ceremonies marking 150 years of peace between the United States and Canada.

A commemorative service was held on the international boundary at the middle of the Rainbow Bridge here, to celebrate the ratification Feb. 17, 1815, of the Treaty of Ghent, which ended the War of 1812.

Color parties from the New York National Guard and Canada's Lincoln and Welland Regiments led dignitaries from both countries to the boundary area from both sides. At the end of the ceremonies, two dozen white doves were released.

Red China, Soviet Swap Unity Pledges Against Imperialism

TOKYO (AP) — Red China pledged Saturday its people will stand by the Soviet people in combatting "U. S. imperialism" and called for world Communist unity to give "resolute support of the armed anti-U.S. struggles of the Vietnamese."

Tass reported that the Kremlin sent a similar "unity" message to Peking, but that it did not mention the United States as the foe. The Soviet message, signed by Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, President Anastas Mikoyan and Premier Alexei Kosygin, spoke only of "aggressive imperialist quarters."

In Communist North Korea, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin boasted that Communist forces are strong enough to stop "the aggression in Viet Nam" and predicted "victory will be ours." He boasted unity in the Communist world.

The Chinese pledge, in a message to Kosygin and other Soviet leaders, followed a Peking condemnation of U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam Thursday and a warning to the United States that the people will "advance wave upon wave" against any expansion of the war in Viet Nam.

"You have been taught a lesson on this score in the Korean War," an official Peking statement said. "Do you want to have the lesson repeated in Indochina?"

The Chinese pledge to remain at the side of the "great Soviet people" was signed by Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, President Liu Shao-chi, Premier Chou En-lai and Marshal Chu Teh. It was sent to Moscow in connection with the 15th anniversary of the Chinese-Soviet treaty of friendship, alliance and mutual assistance and was addressed to Kosygin, Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Anastas I. Mikoyan.

The Soviet Union, Red China and all other Communist countries must unite to fight against "U.S.-led imperialism until final victory is won," the Chinese message said.

"This is the unshirkable international duty of each and every Socialist country," the message said.

The text of the 550-word message was broadcast in Chinese by Radio Peking.

Although it comes at a time when the Kremlin and Peking are at odds over how to spread communism throughout the world, there was no mention of this ideological dispute in the broadcast.

The Chinese message went beyond the crisis in Viet Nam. It called for unity of the Communist nations in giving "resolute support of the armed anti-U.S. struggles of the Vietnamese people and other Indo-Chinese peoples and the Japanese and German peoples against the armament of Japanese and German militarism by the United States, the struggles of the people of Cuba and the Congo (Leopoldville) against U.S. armed intervention, and the struggle of the people throughout the world against U.S.-led imperialism's policies of aggression and war and for world peace, national liberation, people's democracy and socialism, until final victory is won."

U.S. Protests, Says Attack Was Staged, Well Organized

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Nearly 1,000 Communist students stormed the U.S. legation Saturday, smashing windows, shouting anti-American slogans and ripping down the U.S. seal above the entrance.

Some of the demonstrators broke into the basement and damaged a snack bar and movie theater. But they did not reach the protected third floor apartment of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who has been a refugee in the building since the collapse of the Hungarian revolution in 1956.

In Washington, the State Department called the attack "intolerable" and summoned the Hungarian charge d'affaires. A department spokesman disputed the explanation of Hungarian sources that the attack was a spontaneous act by students to protest U.S. raids on North Viet Nam.

"It was clear that the demonstrators were well organized and that it was a staged affair," said press officer Marshall Wright.

In Budapest, informants said the demonstration apparently had not been authorized by Hungarian officials. They said the Hungarian Foreign Ministry had telephoned the legation to warn of the students and promised police protection for the building. However, the students arrived before police.

Elim O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires, called on the Hungarian foreign ministry to protest the failure of police to halt the 45-minute attack. Compensation for all damages to American property will be claimed, legation sources said.

Students staged a similar assault on the U.S. Embassy in Moscow last Tuesday.

It was the first anti-U.S. demonstration in Hungary in years. In contrast to what happened in other Communist nations, there were no incidents in Hungary during the Cuba crisis, the Congo refugee airlift operation, or the U.S.-North Vietnamese Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

The news agency MTI said the demonstration started with a rally of Hungarian, Asian and African students addressed by North Vietnamese student leader Le Haong in Freedom Square opposite the legation. Le condemned the U.S. air strikes in North Viet Nam and called for a "cessation of American armed intervention in South Viet Nam."

Then the crowd marched on the legation, carrying anti-American banners. All front windows on the ground floor and second floor were broken by flying rocks.

While most of the demonstrators crowded the sidewalks and ripped the seal from the legation door, others broke into the building by smashing basement windows on a side street. They tore up the snack bar and movie but were prevented by heavy steel doors from reaching the front of the buildings, where the legation offices are.

"We locked off the snack bar and movie area and all staffers concentrated on guarding the locked front door and a back yard exit," said a legation spokesman.

He said two policemen stationed outside were helpless against the mob but after police reinforcements arrived the demonstration was broken up in about 45 minutes.

Inonu, 81, said earlier he would consider rejection of the $1.6-billion budget — highest in Turkish history — as a no confidence vote and would resign.

During an impassioned plea in support of the budget, however, Inonu said he would resign if 226 assemblymen voted against the bill. The vote against was 225-195. This is one vote short of his figure, giving Inonu an out if he wanted to continue.

In earlier statements he had made no qualification, saying he would quit if the budget bill was defeated in the 450-seat National Assembly.

Inonu's Republicans now hold 192 seats in the 450-seat assembly. The main opposition Justice party has 171 seats.

While the budget has been under some criticism from the opposition it was obviously only being used as one way to topple Inonu. He has been in power since the army returned the government to the civilians after 14 months rule following the May 1960 revolution.

The battle to oust the Inonu Republicans was sparked by Suleyman Demirel leader of the Justice party.

BARNEY LEWIS ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF EXCHANGE CLUB

Barney Lewis was speaker at a meeting of the Exchange club Monday evening at the Dunlap Motor Inn.

Mr. Lewis spoke of his experiences as a radio sports announcer in this area for the last 17 years, and of his recent trip to Alaska where, while visiting his son, he had an opportunity to view the earthquake damage. President Jack LeSuer presided. Guests were M. K. "Link" Lindstrom, Bob Sassenberger, Paul Utterback and Charles Six.

Bliss can be expected to work hardest at first on national image and organization. He will show — in meticulous, business-like charts, tables and statistics — what the GOP must do to build a broad base of support for victory.

However, he warns Republicans not "to expect miracles after April 1" when he takes over at party headquarters in Washington.

"If one party won all the elections, you would never have a two-party system," he said in a recent interview. "But I hope we will start winning a few more soon."

Bliss was considered for national chairman before the Republican convention nominated Barry Goldwater last July in San Francisco. But Goldwater picked Dean Burch, a political unknown from Arizona. After the November GOP defeat and a party-splitting battle over whether to oust Burch, Goldwater personally approved Bliss to take over.

Bliss promised to "give myself wholeheartedly to the national interest of our party, as I have over the past 16 years to the Republican party in Ohio." That means even less time to spend in Akron, where he was born and has lived most of his life.

Bliss is one of three sons of German immigrant parents. His once-reddish hair is sandy and dappled with gray. His nose looks a bit too large. Heavy eyelids drape his blue eyes and he sees the world through thick-lensed glasses.

"Ray won't win any beauty contests," one associate commented, "unless someone says he can't."

His office, less than a block from the state Capitol, is a political factory.

Bliss is a hard man to see, yet once an interview is granted he is talkative to the point that aides often must interrupt to let him keep other appointments.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ray Bliss, veteran of as many campaigns as Napoleon, took an early jump into politics trying to elect a campus May queen. It ended in an uproar.

Later he was called to administer vital first aid to the Republican party in Ohio after Harry S. Truman's upset 1948 election. He nursed the state GOP to long and robust health.

Now he has been named to lead the Republicans out of the wilderness.

Bliss faces problems, but he has traveled through wilderness before. That's why he is the new Republican national chairman.

Raymond Charles Bliss, 57, professional politician, is distinctly an individual.

He is a well-known politician that few people know well. He doesn't look like a politician, but he's a skillful practitioner of that art. He is known as an organization man, yet he is a loner.

Three things are certain about Ray Bliss. He keeps his word. He is totally devoted to the Republican party. And he is successful.

In only two of his 16 years as GOP chairman in Ohio did his party take a beating. Both times Bliss correctly foresaw disaster but couldn't avoid it.

As national chairman, Bliss will operate as he has in Ohio, and at twice the salary — $40,000 instead of $20,000.

In 1960, when Bliss was mentioned as a possible national chairman, he told a reporter, "I've got my own views on how the National Committee should operate and they're not necessarily the views of the past."

He didn't elaborate then — nor will he now.

But he has given this formula for victory: an effective organization, the right candidates, adequate financing, the right issues and the right party image.

Bliss can be expected to work hardest at first on national image and organization. He will show — in meticulous, business-like charts, tables and statistics — what the GOP must do to build a broad base of support for victory.

However, he warns Republicans not "to expect miracles after April 1" when he takes over at party headquarters in Washington.

"If one party won all the elections, you would never have a two-party system," he said in a recent interview. "But I hope we will start winning a few more soon."

After the November GOP defeat and a party-splitting battle over whether to oust Burch, Goldwater personally approved Bliss to take over.

Bliss promised to "give myself wholeheartedly to the national interest of our party, as I have over the past 16 years to the Republican party in Ohio." That means even less time to spend in Akron, where he was born and has lived most of his life.

Bliss is one of three sons of German immigrant parents. His once-reddish hair is sandy and dappled with gray. His nose looks a bit too large. Heavy eyelids drape his blue eyes and he sees the world through thick-lensed glasses.

"Ray won't win any beauty contests," one associate commented, "unless someone says he can't."

His office, less than a block from the state Capitol, is a political factory.

Bliss is a hard man to see, yet once an interview is granted he is talkative to the point that aides often must interrupt to let him keep other appointments.

Bliss will listen to arguments and advice from aides and candidates about campaign strategy, but he alone makes the political decisions.

Bliss works for all nominees, maintaining strict neutrality in primary contests.

Republicans have dominated five of the seven major elections in Ohio since Bliss took over.

Bliss' first step in Ohio was to analyze the 1948 election, by precincts. His finding: 290,000 Republican voters didn't cast ballots. His solution: Get them registered and to the polls.

His first test came in 1950. Sen. Robert A. Taft, "Mr. Republican" and co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, faced a strong challenge by union organizations. Bliss twice had beaten similar attacks in Akron.

Taft won by 431,000 votes — and gave Bliss much of the credit.

FOR PROMPT TAX REFUND BE SURE NAME LEGIBLE

"When will I get my refund?" is one of the questions most frequently asked by taxpayers, according to Jay G. Philpott, District Director of Internal Revenue.

An illegible name or address is quite often the reason for failure to receive refunds, Mr. Philpott said. Thousands of refund checks are returned to Internal Revenue every year because the postman cannot deliver them.

Mr. Philpott said that it is permissible to sign your name at the bottom of the return the way you always sign your name, even if your signature is a hurried scrawl. But at the top of the return, be sure that your name and address are carefully social security number.

Philpott said that if the taxpayer has moved, he should show his new address to promptly receive refunds and other mail from Internal Revenue. If he moves after filing, a forwarding address should be left with the post office.

JHS To Hear Panel On Smoking Dangers

Jacksonville High School will participate in a conference and assembly program on smoking Wednesday, February 17th, arranged in cooperation with the Morgan County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The program will feature a student panel which will direct questions to be answered by a professional panel, following the showing of an ACS film entitled, "Is Smoking Worth It?"

Two showings have been arranged in order to accommodate the total high school student body. The professional panel appearing at the 9:45 assembly will be composed of Dr. Thomas W. Auner, Mrs. Nora Gray, Morgan County Public Health nurse, Robert Kraushaar, High School coach, and Wilfred E. Rice, Morgan County Superintendent of Schools. At 10:45 a.m. the panel will include Dr. Paul Norris and Miss Elizabeth Minor, Public Health nurse, with Mr. Kraushaar and Mr. Rice.

Student Participants
The student panel will include Student Government members Joyce Shillings, Gaylan Rosenberger, Ellen Spencer and Shirley Seeman with Tarry Damrau acting as moderator.

Assisting with publicity is John Eltzorn, editor of the Jacksonville High School Herald. Arrangements for the program were made by Farrell Patterson, principal, with L. G. Aikman, Springfield, field representative of the Fourth District of the Illinois Cancer Society, and Mrs. R. F. Manlove, Morgan County Unit chairman.

Students have been invited to put questions regarding smoking and health in a question box before the program.

According to the American Cancer Society, statistics show that approximately 4500 young people between the ages of 12 and 17 start smoking every day. One million children now in school will die of lung cancer if present trends continue.

"We hope that this program will give the information teenagers should have regarding the relationship between smoking and cancer, as well as other health hazards," stated Mrs. Manlove.

Reither On Beardstown

By VIRGIL REITHER
BEARDSTOWN — The erstwhile simple tasks of shaving, lacing shoes and eating have suddenly become very difficult problems for Bill Richter, prominent Sangamon Valley farmer. He suffered a badly torn and cut right hand last Wednesday while assisting in the loading of grain from a bin to a truck on his farm. The hand was caught in the loading auger and two fingers bore the brunt of the injury. Had it not been for the fact that Richter was using a crowbar in connection with his work, and that the bar stopped the auger, his hand probably would have been much more severely hurt.

Mrs. Joyce Johnson, who was involved in a two car automobile accident near the city cemetery a few afternoons ago, thinks she was mighty lucky despite superficial injuries and the total loss of her car. After the accident she was brought to town, then returned to the scene of the accident and found her billfold, which she hadn't realized she had lost, in a snow drift. She and a fellow worker at the First National, Mrs. Mary Lee Canada Griggs, were in the car at the time of the crash.

Beardstown police arrested two youths, one from Timewell, and discovered that both were AWOL from the Army. They notified authorities at St. Louis. Arrested were Jesse R. Howard of Timewell, reported AWOL from Fort Gordon, Ga. and Richard E. Hymes, AWOL from Fort Belvoir, Va.

Miss Ruth Goldsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goldsmith, and a Beardstown high school junior, was hospitalized for a short time several days ago following an accident at school when she fell from a trampoline. It was reported that she was temporarily paralyzed, but that she has now completely recovered.

BEARDSTOWN—Two Beardstown men have leased Curry Lake downstream from the Beardstown highway bridge, and have announced that commercial fishing in the area is strictly forbidden.

L. E. Mitchell and James Self have completed negotiations with Chest and Nancy Esther for control of the popular fishing waters.

They have announced that while pole and line fishermen are welcome, commercial fishing is prohibited, and anyone caught in this trespassing will be prosecuted.

Make 'Em Better
Beardstown watermelons have long been noted for their fine quality, but there is a move afoot to make them better.

R. D. Meredith, Cass county farm adviser, has announced a melon school will be held here Wednesday Feb. 17 for all melon growers.

It will start at 1:30 p.m. at the Beardstown Implement store.

Joe Vandemark, extension specialist in vegetable crops, will be the instructor, and the meeting is being sponsored by the Cass County Extension Service.

Dr. Vandemark travels throughout Illinois to advise and assist growers.

Women Compete For Election At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — With four women in the race for the office of town clerk, the April 6 township election here is expected to be one of the most hotly-contested and interesting held here in years.

A contest also has developed for the office of assessor with Hank Jones, local business man opposing George Perlukas, who is the incumbent and a candidate for re-election.

Thus far only one candidate, Loyd Thomas, has filed for the office of assistant supervisor, to succeed William DeSollar, who is retiring after 38 years in office.

Mrs. Eva Mae Lynn was the first candidate to file for town clerk after it was learned Mrs. Lucy Weiss would not seek re-election. Mrs. Betty Sinnock then entered the race and on Saturday it was announced two more women had filed. They are Mrs. Naomi Buck and Mrs. Gene Burris. All four women are novices in politics.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Upset by news of widening hostilities in Viet Nam, the stock market last week took its sharpest loss since last November.

Retaliatory measures taken by United States and South Viet Nam forces led many investors to fear that the fighting would escalate into a major struggle.

The result was a typical "war-scare" market with most of the list taking sharp losses while aerospace defense stocks rallied on prospects of the nation beefing up its weaponry.

It was by no means a down market all week, however, as prices showed a continual resilience. Two of the five trading days represented advances, the other three being losses.

On Wednesday stocks reacted to the Communist blast of a U.S. enlisted man's hotel in Viet Nam, with a heavy death toll. On that day volume swelled to 7.23 million shares, the heaviest since Nov. 26, 1963 when 9.23 million shares changed hands.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week declined 4.5 to 332.7 in the sharp slide since the week ended last Nov. 23 when it fell 4.7. That was the week when the British bank rate and the Federal Reserve discount rate were boosted, leading to fears of tighter interest rates all around.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week fell 13.10 to 338.47. The Dow industrials had fallen well below the "magic" 900 level which they sealed recently. Some analysts opined that the list would probably find a "support level" anywhere between 860 and 890.

Gold mining stocks also joined in a rally Friday because of the decline in U.S. gold holdings to their lowest level since March 3, 1959.

Volume for the week was 29,694,710 shares compared with 29,231,820 the previous week. Of 1,538 issues traded last week, 871 declined and 490 advanced.

cline in the averages.

On the New York Stock Exchange, corporate bond volume for the week totaled $58.99 million par value, up sharply from the $45.37 million the week before.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, Gloria's Mother, Dies Of Cancer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Gloria M. Vanderbilt, the mother of heiress Gloria Vanderbilt, died of cancer today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, a spokesman said. She was 60.

The hospital spokesman said she was admitted to the hospital Feb. 2.

Mrs. Vanderbilt first entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for surgery last Dec. 8.

Her physician at that time said surgery was performed upon her aorta — the major artery carrying blood from the heart to other organs. Her physician did not expand upon the nature of the disorder, or the corrective measures.

She was later discharged from the hospital and was readmitted on Feb. 2.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was the widow of Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Following his death, she and other members of her family were involved in a custody battle over her daughter Gloria.

Ultimately, the daughter's aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Vanderbilt Whitney, was given custody.

The daughter, while married to conductor Leopold Stokowski, discontinued her mother's $21,000 annual allowance in 1946.

During the meeting, plans to erect two billboards on Routes 36-54, were approved. The signs will welcome tourists to Winchester. Dick Lashmet, president of the Winchester Kiwanis, showed plans and sketches of the billboards.

STRIKE ON EAST, GULF COASTS ENDS

Alexander P. Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, representing 145 steamship and stevedoring firms, said the strike was a $2-billion blow to the nation's economy in lost business and wages.

The returning workers, members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association broke with a tradition of their union in going back to the docks before contract agreement was reached in all ports.

Thomas W. Gleason, IILA president, gave the order to return in accepting a recommendation of a special panel appointed by President Johnson.

The New York dockers had accepted contract terms Jan. 21 but had stayed idle pending the outcome of contract talks elsewhere.

It was reunion day as well as back to work for the longshoremen. There were shouts of greeting between men who had worked together for years but hadn't seen each other for a month.

A member of Brooklyn Local 1814, the ILA's largest with 8,500 longshoremen, commented: "The men are sure darned happy to be back."

A Baltimore longshoreman said virtually the same thing: "It's really wonderful to be back to work."

In Baton Rouge, where the men were returning, a union official said: "We just want our boys to get back to work and start making some money."

Here was the situation in various ports: New York — The Waterfront Commission said 17,214 longshoremen were working 166 ships in the harbor, which includes New York and New Jersey piers. Normal for a Saturday is about 6,000 men at work.

Baltimore — Some 1,500 longshoremen began loading and unloading ships. The Baltimore Maritime Exchange said 102 vessels were in port.

Philadelphia — Twenty ships were being worked by 1,334 men, with 600 other dock employees such as clerks and checkers also on the job. The number was heavy for a weekend but not as big as a normal weekday.

Boston — Some 4,500 longshoremen headed to the piers to work 47 ships.

New Orleans — A small force at work. Many ships still were tied up in midriver. Full work was expected Monday. Two ILA banana-handling locals still were negotiating.

Portland, Maine — One hundred men were back on the job working three vessels.

Providence, R.I. — Longshoremen began unloading lumber and pig iron from two ships. Baton Rouge, La. — All 500 men were back on the job.

Norfolk, Va. — The Port of Hampton Roads stayed idle. Negotiations still lacked agreement, but a return to work appeared possible about the middle of next week.

Gulfport, Miss. — No return to work yet. Five cargo ships tied up.

Houston — No prospect yet in West Gulf area for return to work. Some negotiations may resume next week, but plans were indefinite.

The New York contract provided for an 80-cent-an-hour increase in wages and fringe benefits over a four-year period, including 36 cents in wages.

It included pension increases and the lowering of the retirement age from 65 to 62. Regularly employed workers were assured of sufficient hours to give them the equivalent of about $5,800 in the first year after April 1, 1966.

Management obtained its chief objective, union agreement in the reduction of the size of work gangs from 20 to 17 over a three-year period. Management said this would be done through normal attrition, and that nobody would lose his job because of it.

JHS Scores 79-72 Edge, IC Falls In Overtime 93-91

Free Throws Play Big Part In Loss

Greenville championed over Illinois College Saturday night 93-91 in a flashing overtime. The game was nip and tuck all the way. With three minutes to go in the fourth period the score was tied 78-78, and fouls began to play a decisive role.

With 30 seconds remaining in the final period Jim Cox was fouled and hit two at the line. This put the score at 86-85, I.C. with time running out. Max Greer fouled Max Foster. Foster hit to put the game into an overtime.

With the over-time jump at center the pace of the game became rapid. I.C. and Greenville traded shot for shot until the last minute when the Greenville Panthers opened the gap by three.

In the last seconds the game was played from the foul lines. A technical was called against Illinois College which gave Greenville possession of the ball. Leading 93-90 Greenville held the ball until it was stolen by I.C.'s Cox. Cox was fouled at the horn.

The players were leaving the floor when Cox sank the free throw to put the final total at Greenville 93, Illinois College 91.

Leading the Panthers in scoring was Jim Parsons with 26. He was followed by Foster and Lynn Carlson with 17 each. For the Blueboys it was Greer with 25, Jim Bruner and Paul Runkle hit 19 and 18 respectively for I.C.

From the field Greenville hit 37.5 per cent while I.C. put in 33.5 per cent. At the gift line I.C. poured in 90 per cent, and Greenville hit 58 per cent.

This victory places Greenville with a leading 3-1 record in the P.C.C., leaving Illinois College with a 1-4 mark.

This loss is Illinois College's fourteenth of the season against only two wins. Saturday night showed I.C. having trouble rebounding.

The Blueboys also were a bit loose on offense, but the game was still evenly matched.

Almost one-third of the Blueboys team is new this semester. Jim Cox and Dick Dickens are two of these new faces who did a good job for the I.C. team. They each hit five against Greenville.

Red-Hot Lewis Team Bombs Clan, 124-79

LOCKPORT — Lewis College's gym last night as the Flyers celebrated their annual homecoming with a whopping 124-79 cleaning of the Clan. The host five ran up a decisive 63-31 halftime margin on a shooting spree of 65% and were never headed.

Big Wayne Molis, 6'8" center for Lewis, dunked in 25 points in the opening 20 minutes, hitting from almost any angle and distance to spark the host quintet. He led all scorers with 30 points for the evening.

MacMurray could not match the hot-shooting Flyers, and managed only a 33% clip in the opening period. Forward Tom Zerkammer led the Highlanders in the first half with 12 markers, and finished as co-high scorer with Dave Berst, each hitting 14 for the Clan.

Berst, a 6'5" freshman, tallied 12 of his total in the second half. Coach Bill Wall went with his second team most of the second half as Lewis was too far ahead for hope. With 14 minutes remaining, and the count 92-45, both coaches sent in the substitutes, but Lewis continued to march away. The Flyers went over the century mark at 101-60 with 7:41 to go on a jumper by John Salzinski.

For the evening, MacMurray could muster only a 34% shooting mark, tallying on 34 of 98 shots from the floor, while Lewis burned the nets at a 52% pace in the second half following their red hot first period.

Outrebounded 66-48

The taller Flyers outrebounded the Clan, 66-48 for the night, with Molis nabbing 12, Duane Scymkowski 11, and Ray Coughlin 9. Berst led the Highlanders on the boards with 12 rebounds, and Tom Young added 10. The Clan was playing without the services of regular center Dennis Beard, out with a sprained knee.

The win gives Lewis a big boost in its quest for the independent berth in the NAIA District 20 (Illinois) post-season tournament, and runs the Flyers' season mark to 15-6. Lewis is 8-0 on their new home floor, MacMurray, after three straight wins, dropped to 7-12 for the year.

Behind Molis in scoring were

Tiger Rally Falls Short, Lose 81-72

A late surge by the ISD Tigers fell short Saturday night as they suffered their 16th loss of the campaign, dropping a narrow 81-72 count to the Orioles from the Indiana School for the Deaf.

The Tigers came on strong with 27 points in the fourth quarter but it was not enough to overcome their coldness from the field in the first half when they recorded only 28 per cent.

First quarter play was slow, with ISD drawing first blood after two and a half minutes of play. Indiana couldn't find the range until the 4:00 mark in the period, but tallied seven straight to grasp an early 7-4 edge.

Two quick lay-ups by Ray Richardson put the Tigers back on top, 8-7, but five consecutive charity tosses gave the lead back to the Orioles. A field goal with :04 seconds remaining in the first frame knotted the contest at 11-11.

Moving into a press defense, the Indiana five made eight steals in the second quarter to reach a 36-27 spread at the intermission. ISD guard Mike Hummel was double teamed throughout the frame and the Tiger playmaker was unable to get his team rolling.

Hit Foul Trouble

ISD managed to contain the Orioles to a five point bulge during most of the period, but foul trouble caused the gap to increase, as the Tigers trailed by nine.

The Tigers played probably their best half of the season during the last 16:00, but suffered from cold spells and had to accept equal scoring totals.

After the first two minutes, the locals cut the lead to five, 41-36, but were unable to hit the net for a three minute span. Moving to a 53-36 advantage, the Hoosiers almost broke the game wide open.

After trading two buckets and a free throw, the Tigers came to life as Hummel, noticeably absent due to foul trouble, reentered the contest to spark ISD with three straight shots from the outside.

The fourth quarter was ISD all the way as they hit 11 of 16 shots from the field. Ray Robinson paced the uprising with nine points in the period, while Hummel added eight. ISD repeatedly made good from the outside, but their inability to haul down defensive rebounds was the deciding factor as the Crouches countered with short two-pointers.

Hummel led all scorers with 23, while Robinson netted 20.

Sports Now Truly A Major Business

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — This guy in Washington says sports has become a big business, what with television getting into everything, and it ought to be investigated.

The sports writer, who grew up reading about Connie Mack's $100,000 infield and Matty, the pitcher with the $10,000 arm, thinks maybe the guy has something. You don't see such small figures any more.

Didn't CBS spend a lot of millions to buy control of the Yankees? And how about those huge TV contracts for pro football? They have sellouts almost everywhere every Sunday.

Baseball isn't doing badly in some towns, too, and college football set another attendance record last fall. Then there was a story the other day that more than 61 million people went to the horse parks last year and bet more than $4 billion. That's big money.

So the sports writer makes a few phone calls and digs through the files and comes up with a batch of figures — rough but reasonably accurate — and goes down the hall to the financial desk to get some comparisons with other big businesses.

"Big business?" says the financial editor. "Peanuts! Don't bother me with that little stuff." "Peanuts," the sports editor yells. "Do you call it peanuts when CBS spends $11.2 million to buy the Yankees?"

Diversification
"Yeah, but just a couple of weeks later CBS spends $13 million to buy what? — a company that makes electric guitars. They're just putting a little of the loose change into diversification."

Well, how about these figures. The major leagues drew 21,280,346 paid admissions last year. At $1.75, a fair average, that makes around $37,275,000 in gate receipts. The National Football League drew about 4½ million people at $4 a head — that's $18 million. If the prices are the same the AFL got about $5.4 million from 1.35 million people. That's big money to me.

"Sure," says the financial editor, "if you're comparing it to your pay or mine. But on this desk we spell it B-I-G — like Telephone and General Motors both showing $1.7 billion income after taxes. There are a hundred or so companies with annual sales over a billion and I'd bet the entire take from sports wouldn't reach that."

The sports writer is a bit sheepish but still stubborn. "Let's try some more," he says. "We still have those big racing figures. College football, hockey, golf are all setting records."

Big Ones First
"Racing? Take your 61 million admissions and make it $2 a head to allow for the small tracks. There's $122 million. The $4 billion total handle represents money turning over and over with about 15 per cent coming out each time. That gives you $600 million for the tracks and the states."

"College football? A survey a couple of years ago put the gross at $65 million. Let's make it 75 and include all post-season games."
"Golf? You have four tournaments big enough to interest the television people. Your USGA report says the Open drew 55,000 people last year and their share of the gate—about half—was $154,850. The Masters probably does better and the PGA and Crosby a little worse. Can't guess the gates at the 40-odd other four tournaments, but let's be liberal and call the total $6.5 million."

Only Big Figures
"Sure, college and pro basketball draws maybe 15 million people but its mostly kids on freebies or student tickets. Say a 30-million figure for auto races but that would require a lot of big crowds. The NHL couldn't draw more than 2.5 million people with every seat filled."

The sports writer was busy with pencil and paper. "If I add right, I make it something over $170 million, including the betting," he said. "And don't forget the concessions and the big television contracts. That's what the congressman was beefing about."

The financial editor yielded grudgingly. "Concessions are a separate business and the club only gets a percentage of the profits, not total sales."

"The pro football clubs will split up nearly $22 million from last year."

GUN BOW CAPTURES S IN ANTONIO RACE

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Gun Bow captured the $57,500 San Antonio Handicap for an unprecedented second straight year Saturday, beating back the strong stretch challenge of Candy Spots at Santa Anita Park.

Jockey Manuel Ycaza on Gun Bow and Bill Shoemaker on giant-sized Candy staged a thrilling duel, with the 5-year-old Gun Bow driving across first by three-quarters of a length.

Canadian-bred George Royal, up with veteran Johnny Longden, was third in the field of eight.

Gun Bow returned $6.80, $4.20 and $3.80 across the board. Candy Spots paid $3.40 and $2.30 and George Royal $5.20.

TV, some baseball clubs get a million and some a lot less. College football gets about $7.5 million and the other live sports are one-shot things that maybe total a few hundred $'s.

"I'll give you a little over a billion total, but do I make my point?" asked the financial editor.

By this time the sports writer was feeling uncomfortable. "Maybe it isn't as big as GM or Jersey Standard," he said, "but I still see a lot of rich guys trying to buy into sports. Why?"

"It's like Blue Shirt Charlie Bidwell used to say," replied the financial editor. "What if I do lose $100,000 a year on pro football? Think of the fun I have."

Female Swimmer Causing Concern At W. Virginia

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Bette Husla isn't a mermaid, but some of the male swimmers in the Southern Conference aren't so sure.

Bette is a pretty brunette and the first girl ever to win a spot on the West Virginia University varsity swimming team.

Specializing in the 200-yard backstroke, she has placed first in six of eight meets this year. Several teams have been reluctant to compete against her, and one swimmer from Georgetown University threatened to quit the squad after Bette beat him by one-half length.

"Some schools don't like to swim against a girl," WVU Coach Jack Lowder said. "But she's legal in our conference and the best backstroke we've got."

Lowder, in his first year at West Virginia, had some reservations this fall when the 19-year-old sophomore appeared for practice.

Doubts Soon Gone
"But my doubts were soon gone," he said. "She works harder than the boys and lives swimming."

The male members of WVU's six-man squad have made Bette feel like "one of the boys," and respect her swimming ability. "They also rib her a lot," Lowder said, "but not as much as they do Dave Meiser."

Meiser, Bette's steady date, is the second ranking backstroke on the team.

Both of Bette's parents are active swimmers at Rochester, N.Y., and it was no accident that their daughter enrolled at West Virginia. "I came here because they permitted girls to swim on the varsity team," she said.

Indiana Climbs Back In Race With 86-76 Edge

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Indiana's hurrying Hoosiers outshot Northwestern and scored an 86-76 basketball victory Saturday night to climb back into contention in the Big Ten basketball race.

The victory was the fifth in seven conference games for the Hoosiers who are now 15-2 for the season.

The eighth-ranked Hoosiers, using a balanced attack with their zone press, took a 49-43 halftime lead which they never relinquished although Northwestern managed to come within two points twice in the second half.

Jon McGlocklin led Indiana with 20 points but scoring honors went to Northwestern's Jim Burns with 22. Five Indiana players scored in double figures.

The defeat left Northwestern with a 2-5 mark in the Big Ten and a 6-11 record over-all.

Tennessee Stops Vanderbilt 79-68

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A. W. Davis and Ron Widby dealt the knockout blow Saturday night as Tennessee handed seventh-ranked Vanderbilt its first Southeastern Conference basketball loss of the season 79-68.

Davis, playing his last game against Vanderbilt, and Widby each tossed in 22 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

The victory was Tennessee's 10th straight and put the Vols one-half game ahead of Vanderbilt in the conference title race.

Tennessee is now 9-1 in the league and 17-2 over-all. The defeat, Vandy's first in 14 games, left the Commodores at 8-1 in the SEC and 16-3 for the season.

Clyde Lee, Vanderbilt's 6-9 all-SEC pivotman who led the Commodores to a 77-72 triumph over Tennessee earlier in the season, paced Vandy with 20 points.

Yancy Nabs Lead On Final Green In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bert Yancey of Philadelphia tapped in a short birdie putt on the final green Saturday and grabbed the undisputed lead after 54 holes of the $67,500 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Yancey, a 26-year-old who never has won a professional golf tournament, shot a three-under-par 69 for a three-round total of 206, ten strokes under par.

It gave him a one-stroke advantage over Al Geiberger and Rod Funseth.

Tom Nieporte was just two strokes out at 208 and four others, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, were three strokes off the pace.

Joining Nicklaus at 209 were Frank Beard, Claude King and Don January.

Yancey took the tourney lead in the first round with a 67. He shot a 70 in the second round and shared the 36-hole lead with Beard and Geiberger.

Yancey left his approach shot just inches from the cup on the 18th green Saturday and had little difficulty dropping it for a birdie four and the lead.

The same hole proved disastrous a few moments earlier for Nicklaus. Big Jack, who led briefly during the round, sliced his drive out of bounds and took a two-stroke penalty. Nicklaus wound up getting a bogey six on the hole when he one-putted after blasting out of a trap.

Yancey, a former West Point cadet, is in his first full season on the pro tour.

Sauer, who is visiting in his parents' home in Waco between semesters, declined to say whether he would sign a pro football contract but said "I definitely will not use my fifth year of football eligibility at Texas."

Redshirting is the practice of withholding a boy from varsity action in one of his three years of eligibility. Although his original college class may have graduated he then would remain in college for a fifth year and could be available for football.

Sauer's class will be graduated in June but he will not graduate until next year. He was kept out of varsity competition in 1962, his sophomore year. The talented Texas team won the Southwest Conference title that year and was host in the Cotton Bowl game.

Wants To Play Pro Ball
"The boy does want to play pro ball this year," said his father in New York. "He has told Darrell Royal that he is not going to come back for the fifth year. He expects to go back to school to get his degree the second semester of next year and then start graduate work."

The publicity directors of the Southeastern Conference also took a crack at the AFL when they voted at their annual meeting in Atlanta to withhold cooperation from AFL representatives because the young pro circuit had refused to take a stand against premature signing of college stars. The AFL called for a meeting of all parties concerned.

The National Football League, which also had been involved in the early signing in the case of Oklahoma's Gator Bowl team, decided to change its constitution to make signing illegal until after all bowl games.

Four Oklahoma players were kept out of the Gator Bowl game when it was disclosed they had signed pro contracts prior to the game.

At Atlanta, where he was attending a Southeastern Conference meeting, SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said of Foss:

Texas And AFL Exchange Blasts On Sauer Status

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The George Sauer Jr. case threatened to end relations between the University of Texas and the American Football League Thursday.

Without mentioning the player or the school by name, Commissioner Joe Foss of the AFL fired a counterblast at the practice of redshirting college athletes.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas, in Tampa, Fla., for a sports award dinner, said if the New York Jets of the AFL sign Sauer before next year, all AFL scouts would be barred from Texas practice fields, dressing rooms and press boxes.

Sauer, an end, has one year of eligibility remaining.

Royal contends the Jets have assured him they would not sign Sauer without the coach's consent.

Sauer, who is visiting in his parents' home in Waco between semesters, declined to say whether he would sign a pro football contract but said "I definitely will not use my fifth year of football eligibility at Texas."

Casey Files Suit In Election Contest For Circuit Clerk

The second round of legal motions contesting the results of the November 3 general election for the office of circuit clerk of Morgan county began anew last week.

Democrat Joe Casey of Woodson, candidate for circuit clerk, through his attorneys, refiled a civil suit seeking to unseat Republican Philip Bradish who is now serving as circuit clerk.

The first hearing in the case was held January 20 with Circuit Judge John T. Reardon of Quincy presiding. Judge Reardon heard arguments on the merits of the petitions on file and then asked Casey's attorneys to condense and refile the petition.

Births

Word has been received of the birth on Saturday of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Langdon of Springfield. This is the couple's first child. Mrs. Langdon is the former Sarah Beninati of Danville. Mr. Langdon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Langdon of Murrayville.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Shearburn, Waverly, became the parents of a daughter born at 3:19 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Megginson of Los Gatos, Calif., became the parents of a son Feb. 11. Mr. Megginson is a former resident of Jacksonville.

David Johnson To Celebrate 91st Birthday

David P. Johnson of 128 Hardin Avenue, Jacksonville, will celebrate his 91st birthday on February 16. A few days ago he learned that he has the distinction of being one of 1,961 persons in the United States who have received social security benefits since the first checks were issued in January, 1940. He is one of 126 residents of Illinois who recently received their 300th social security check.

A resident of Jacksonville since 1917, Mr. Johnson now makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Benson. A son passed away in 1944, and his wife died in 1957. When asked to what he attributed his long life, he laughs and replies, "I quit smoking my pipe." He quit when he was 85, after smoking a pipe for 60 years.

Brown County Native

Born to a pioneer farm family in Brown County, Johnson was the youngest of a family of 12 children. He and his eight brothers formed their own baseball team and were well known in Brown County. He has been a life-long baseball fan and still enjoys games on both radio and television. He watches television without glasses, but has to use them to work crossword puzzles. He enjoys good health.

Looking back over the years, this Jacksonville resident can recall doing many different types of work. As a young man, after college work, he taught school for two terms. He recalls, "I quit teaching when I found out I wasn't cut out for it." He was paid $35 per month for his first year of teaching and $45 the second year. Before leaving his native Brown County, he farmed, worked as a blacksmith, and ran a general merchandise store in Timewell, Illinois. After moving to Jacksonville he again worked as a blacksmith and was manager of a grain elevator, and worked several years at the local Wabash railroad station.

When social security started in 1937, Johnson was employed as a maintenance man for the Dolly Hat Shop in Jacksonville. His social security checks are based on taxes that he and his employer had paid. He doesn't recall what his reaction was when he learned he was to pay social tax, but is now a firm believer in this Federal program. He says that his social security checks have been an important part of his income in his retirement years.

Judge Reardon gave Casey until last Thursday to refile the petition and Bradish until March 2 to answer. A second hearing will be scheduled sometime in March after both petitions have been filed.

In the official election canvass Bradish was declared the winner by 35 votes. Casey asked for a discovery recount in 12 precincts and forged ahead by an unofficial count of 19 votes.

Most of the errors uncovered during the discovery procedure were confined to two Jacksonville precincts, 15 and 2. Most observers attribute the errors to the failure of election judges to initial ballots cast by absentee voters before dropping those ballots into the box.

Meanwhile, all ballots, election books and supplies remain under lock and key in the custody of the county clerk.

In his petition, Casey asks that the court recount the same 12 precincts as counted in the discovery and officially declare him the winner.

The motion, as refiled, was four pages less than the original 19-page document.

Attorneys Robert Brunsmann of Springfield and C. G. Colburn of Virginia are representing Mr. Casey.

Attorneys Robert E. Bradley and William T. Wilson are representing Mr. Bradish.

CHARGE YOUTH WITH DELINQUENCY AFTER JAILBREAK ATTEMPT

JERSEYVILLE — A 16-year-old Calhoun County youth, who allegedly supplied hacksaw blades to prisoners planning an escape from the Jersey County Jail, has been charged with delinquency and is scheduled to appear at a hearing Feb. 18.

Sheriff Paul Miller said the youth had been a prisoner in the jail for twenty days prior to his release Feb. 7. He subsequently obtained a dozen hacksaw blades which he slipped to the prisoners through a jail window. The jailbreak was thwarted when sheriff's officers received information that an escape was planned.

The boy told police he supplied the weapons through fear of a prisoner who threatened to kill him if he did not comply.

Calhoun County prisoners are being held in the Jersey County jail for want of adequate security in the Calhoun jail.

Editorial Comment

Disability Progress

It is good to see that action on the proposed presidential disability and succession amendment is going forward briskly in Congress. The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved the Bayh proposal with only minor changes, and there is much reason to expect that when the measure is called up for action by the whole Senate on February 17 it will be approved with little delay.

There are better prospects this year, also, for House passage. Last year the Senate passed a similar proposal without a dissenting vote, but the House did not act on it. Now the chances of an early House okay seem favorable.

After the exhaustive discussion of this matter, and particularly in view of events beginning with the death of President Kennedy, there would be little excuse for Congress not to proceed with a badly needed change. The sooner the better.

For Better Environment

The distinguished British biologist, Sir Julian Huxley, has a favorite expression to describe the messiness of civilization. He says we are fast becoming an "effluent society." The specific reference is to disposal of sewage and other wastes, but in a broader sense Sir Julian is talking about man's general tendency to destroy the beauty of his surroundings.

This is what President Johnson is getting at in his proposals for preserving and enhancing America's natural beauty. Though there is nothing new about much of what he suggests to Congress, his message was the most comprehensive statement on the subject yet made by a chief executive.

Far more is involved than a few stabs at highway beautification and such. Mr. Johnson proposes no less than a broad-scale attack on threats to the beauty and wholesomeness of our physical environment. This contemplates programs against water and air pollution, the establishment of more seashore and hinterland recreation areas, tighter controls over the manufacture and use of pesticides and farm chemicals, a national program of tree-planting, concealment of auto junkyards that are eyesores near many roads, and so on.

There has been growing realization that the quality of our environment is on the downgrade. Enactment of President Johnson's proposals would go a long way toward restoring its beauty and healthfulness for this and other generations.

Dear Ann:

Erratic Temper Poses Problem

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé, Bob, and I are both 20. We have been going together for two years. Bob wants to be married next May. My problem is that I don't know if I should marry him. Here is an example of what worries me.

Friday night we planned to go to the movies. The last complete show started at 10:05. We arrived at the box-office at 10:15 and found it closed.

Bob was so furious he pulled out of the parking lot like a maniac and careened down the street at a dangerously high rate of speed. He kept saying "I have to get this out of my system."

Finally he swerved off to a side-street and drove into an alley. He brought the car to a screeching halt and put his head in his hands and cried. I sat silent for about 10 minutes while he sobbed. Suddenly he changed the subject and was extremely pleasant as we rode back to my house.

I'm afraid Bob may take his erratic temper out on me after we are married. What do you think?—DESPERATE

Dear Desperate: A 20-year-old man who deals with frustrations at an infantile level is the worst possible kind of husband material. This boy needs psychiatric help, not a wife. And you need to go with others for two years at least, or see if the young man is "ever" going to grow up.

The letter below is from a woman who married such a man. Please read on:

Dear Ann Landers: Can you help me? My husband has a TNT temper. I try awfully hard not to rile him—even to the point where I have memorized a list of things I must not do, or subjects I must not bring up. It is useless. One wrong word and the table or chair gets a kick or I am in for a terrible tongue lashing.

On the highway he is forever cursing the other drivers, trying to pass them if he feels they have passed him "for spite." He takes everything as a personal affront—a chance shove in a crowded area is always "on purpose." If it rains on a day he had planned to do some gardening he just sits and sulks for hours—won't even read.

Worst of all is his violent temper. He explodes over nothing and now I am the target. What can I do so his outbursts do not hurt so much? Thank you for any help you might give.—FLORADORA GIRL

Dear Girl: Your husband's inability to deal with frustration demonstrates that, emotionally, he is still in knee pants. He needs professional help. If he refuses to get it, I hope you will handle his childish behavior as you would a child's tantrum. Let him blow himself out and ignore him.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old girl who has just started to date. I need some answers to a few questions which have been bothering me.

One certain 17-year-old boy comes over almost every Friday evening to watch TV. He always gets tired and wants to lie down on the sofa or the floor. Then he pulls me down next to him. Before I know it he is getting very comfortable with his head in my lap.

I don't know if this is wrong or not. When I suggested that maybe he should not lie down after a hard week in school and if I won't let him relax at my house he will find a girl who is not so formal.

Please tell me if I am being prudish.—UNCERTAIN

Dear Uncertain: Any 17-year-old kid who is so tired he can't sit up when he goes to visit his girl should be sent home. I have stated my rules for necking. "Both parties sitting up—four feet on the floor, and all hands on deck."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Barryites' Frustration:

What to Do? Where to Go?

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO (NEA) — The political echoes here are the noises of frustration from arch-conservative Republicans seething with anger at the blows struck against their cause by hard-headed party professionals.

The frustrations seem bound to grow. Ouster of Dean Burch as GOP chairman is only the first big blow. Another, predictably, will be the dawning awareness that the arch-conservatives have no new hero to supplant Barry Goldwater as he recedes into private life.

Indeed, for these people the largest effect of the Chicago meeting may be the slowly developing shock of discovery that they not only have no new leader but also no place to direct their highly charged energies.

They are not facing up to this prospect. They are not really facing squarely anything that has happened to them since Nov. 3.

Hours after the Republican National Committee had adjourned its Chicago sessions, a tiny band of Goldwaterites, gathered in a dimly lit cocktail lounge, was heard playing post-mortems on Burch's removal—as if somehow the situation could still be retrieved.

A pro-Goldwater westerner was heard to say: "We'd have 50 votes right there..."

While the sessions were on, the corridors rang steadily with the bitter complaints of GOP right-wingers at events which were shoving them aside. Typical was California's committeewoman, Mrs. John Bowler Jr., who sounded as if she could never again bring herself to support a Republican progressive for the presidency.

Who could be a warmly welcomed candidate of these forces in 1968 is difficult for them—or anyone else—to see right now.

Sen. John Tower of Texas is under serious threat in his 1968 re-election bid. Even without that, his name seldom is heard in presidential context.

Colorado's Sen. Peter Dominick is the one individual whose name does crop up, casually but fairly often. Yet he is really little known among the conservatives themselves and has nothing approaching national status.

Now and then a hopeful right-winger suggests they could "have something" if one of their own—say actor Ronald Reagan, could win nomination and election as California's governor in 1966. But Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, expected to seek a third term, would be a formidable adversary.

And it is quite a far stretch to say that a political novice, as Reagan would be, deserves quick consideration as leadership material.

This short rundown underlines the emptiness of the arch-conservatives' cupboard. They simply have nothing solid in sight. They have other problems, more pressing in some ways. Fanned across the country is the army of Goldwater volunteers mustered by F. Clifton White and others. Most are young activists spilling for a new cause—right now.

Their urgent letters of appeal boil to this: "What do we do? When do we do?"

Many groups have speedily recast themselves in forms like the Committee for Constitutional Government or Committee for a Reapportionment Amendment (to upset the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling). In some communities there may already be four or five of these.

To some thoughtful Goldwater men, eager to keep these energies harnessed in a good conservative cause, the pressures from the volunteers spell potential danger. They voice a strong fear that many, lacking forceful direction from the top, will satisfy their appetite for militancy by joining the John Birch Society.

The circumstance may be unique in politics. Goldwater has gone back to his mountain in Arizona, which each day will seem more remote from events. Burch will go soon. Standard GOP conservatives are turning away, in obedience to party regularity and a future bent toward winning ways.

What remains of the Goldwater Movement is like a huge, rudderless transport ship, crowded to the decks with troops. It drifts perilously in heavily traveled seas. The risk of collision or explosion is ever-present.

Chicken breasts that weigh about one pound each when simmered in water to cover, will need about thirty minutes cooking time.

W. A. Jenkinson's large St. Bernard dog, Rover, which has been missing for eight months, has finally come home. He had a piece of rope around his neck and when he made his appearance he seemed very glad to get back.

Horseshoe pitching as a sport goes back to the Christian era when the games were played by soldiers in their camps. It probably derives its origin from the game of quoits. The National Horseshoe Pitchers Assn. was incorporated and became the governing body of the sport in the United States in 1921. World championship tournaments are held every year.

FINDING THE WAY

Faith Bolsters Spirit

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For many sections of the country, February is a tired time of the year. Spring seems a long way off. It's the 2 a.m. period of the year when breakfast seems distant. Well, all things pass and that includes February. But there's a February spirit that infects people who may even be enjoying the sunshine of warm climates, an introspective weariness that drains the zest out of life.

Even an indefatigable Albert Schweitzer could know this weariness. He recently celebrated his 90th birthday, marking more than 50 years of service in Lambarene. His humanitarianism has been a saga of the 20th century. He was his own Peace Corps long before others had dreamed of such ventures. Yet he has known weariness.

"One day, in my despair," he writes, "I threw myself into a chair in the consulting room and groaned out, 'What a blockhead I was to come here to doctor savages like these.'"

Whereupon Joseph (Schweitzer's native helper) quietly remarked, "Yes, doctor, here on earth you are a great blockhead, but not in heaven."

There's some comfort in knowing that the great have known their despair and have seen through almost a century with an undiscouraged faith.

It takes more than dogged determination to do this. It's the ability to see beyond the present. That man who has learned from history and has faith in some ultimates has won his first round of the battle. Saint Paul knew this and called to his fellow churchmen in Galatia, "Let us not grow tired of doing good, for unless we throw in our hand, the ultimate harvest is assured." It brought the ultimate into the present.

Most of us are tired of being told not to be tired. It's really not the weariness that matters. It's the sag of the spirit, the loss of elasticity, the rigidity and ouchiness of the continuing burden that keeps a man of faith from remembering that there is a spring or a breakthrough.

We get tired when we're just holding the fort instead of fighting for a cause.

We get tired when we think we're blockheads to be keeping some ideals instead of understanding the eternal worth of those values.

We're tired when we see we can't quit and yet see no sense in it.

It's our inadequacy of faith that creates the weariness. Watch a man stare at his own shuffling feet. Watch him stumble into the traffic which surges by. He sees but he does not see. He hears but he does not hear. He knows but he does not understand. He's in danger in that traffic. That's what's happened to most of us in the world and it's a good time in mid-February to "be not weary in well-doing." There are weeks until spring and hours until breakfast but it's not a time to throw in the hand!

How to Store Potatoes

By GAYNOR MADDON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Often my potatoes turn green on the outside before I use them. How can I prevent this?

A—Follow these rules for storing potatoes: Store in a dark, dry place with good ventilation and a temperature of 45 to 50 degrees. Light causes greening, which lowers eating quality. High temperatures hasten sprouting and shriveling. Storing potatoes at temperatures that are too low may change some of the starch in them to sugar. If potatoes taste too sweet because of too-cold storage, their flavor may be improved by keeping them at refrigerator room temperature, 70 to 80 degrees for a week or two before using them.

Q—Sometimes my butter has a strong flavor even though I buy U.S. Grade AA. How can I prevent this?

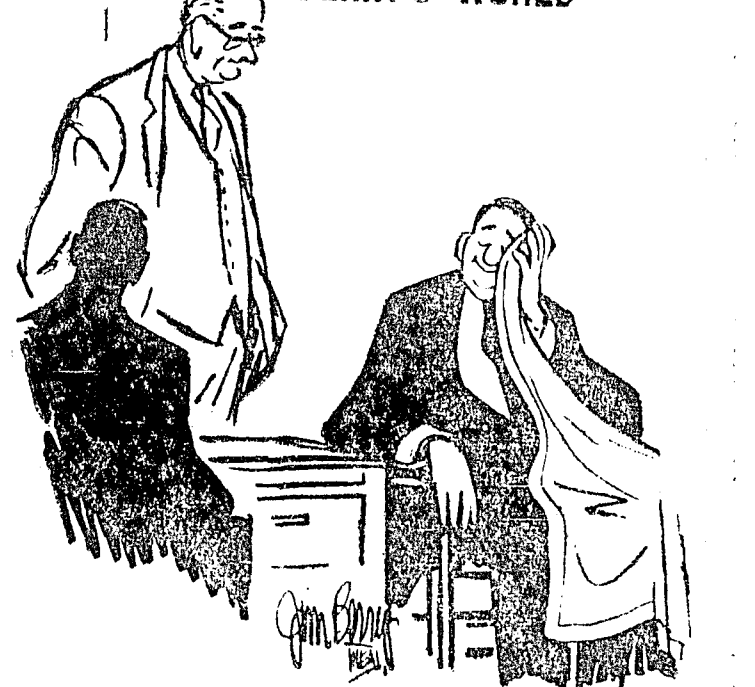

A—Maybe you aren't storing your butter properly. Because of its delicate flavor, butter should be kept in your refrigerator—preferably in the butter compartment. And since it is sensitive to strong-flavored foods, it should be kept covered or in the original protective wrapping until ready for use. If you don't plan to use it within a few days, keep it in the freezer compartment of your refrigerator.

Monk Decries Fund Cut For Soil, Water Work

BATCHELOR, La. — The President's budget proposal to cut back federal support for conservation on privately-owned lands of the country is attacked by the president of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts as a shocking and dangerous reversal of national policy on resource development.

"A 20 percent cut-back in technical assistance and a 40 percent reduction in cost-sharing aid, along with reduced federal support for conservation research programs, would reverse a national policy started 30 years ago and force a severe setback in America's soil conservation and water development efforts," declared Marion S. Monk, Jr., president of the association and a farmer at Batchelor, Louisiana.

"More than 70 percent of the nation's land is in private ownership. This is where the lion's share of the resource work for America's future must be done," Monk added. "The cuts would destroy the momentum built up during the past 30 years by the federal-state-local partnership that has given our country unprecedented conservation know-how and progress."

Many Involved
The association headed by Monk is composed of 3,000 individual Conservation Districts in 50 states, with two million cooperating landowners, largely farmers and ranchers.

Monk voiced particular opposition to a proposal in the budget that Congress authorize a revolving fund through which Soil and Water Conservation Districts, and individual farmers and ranchers, would make $20 million in payments to the federal government for scientific and technical assistance provided by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture.

"This proposal by the Bureau of the Budget shows a total lack of understanding about the national interest in conservation and the nationwide benefits realized from this work," Monk declared. "Landowners already contribute far more than the government to conservation and development of soil and water resources. The results benefit all Americans — the businessman, housewife, sportsman, consumer, and especially the children who will inherit our land — and all these must be listed among the chief beneficiaries." $20 Million Slash

Under the revolving fund proposal, federal appropriations for "Conservation Operations" of the Soil Conservation Service would be reduced from $104,223,000 to $84,103,000 in fiscal year 1966. The $20,000,000 difference would be made up by payments into the revolving fund by districts, farmers, and other landowners.

"The revolving fund proposal, coupled with the recommended cut-back of 40 percent in cost-sharing funds, would result in a decrease of at least 50 percent in the application of conservation practices on the privately-owned lands of America, and would reduce the quality of the practices applied," Monk predicted.

The revolving fund proposal would reverse a policy of 30 years standing. With the creation of the Soil Conservation Service in 1935, Congress began a policy of providing SCS technical assistance without charge to the private landowners of the country willing to adopt farm-wide conservation program on their properties. A reversal of this policy is wholly unacceptable to the nation's 3,000 locally-organized and operated Soil and Water Conservation Districts," Monk declared.

A National Problem
"It took the dust storms of the Thirties for this nation to realize that all of the people who live in towns and cities depend on our limited supplies of soil and water for their daily requirements of food, water, and a productive countryside. I don't believe that Americans in our towns and cities now expect the farmers and landowners of the country to take on a still larger share of the cost of soil and water conservation."

"I am immediately alerting each of the 15,000 citizens throughout the nation who serve without pay on the governing bodies of local Soil and Water Conservation Districts about the seriousness of the proposed revolving fund and the other cut-backs," Monk said.

Pork Producers Of Greene Hold Annual Meeting

CARROLLTON — Bob and Connie Greene, progressive producers of meat type hogs from Ainsworth, Iowa, were the featured speakers at the dinner meeting of the Greene County Swine Improvement association held Monday at St. Michael's church in Greenfield.

Approximately 100 Greene county folk were present to hear the Greenses' talk concerning their swine business. Greene illustrated his talk with slides as he told about his production methods, management technique and breeding stock selection.

He stressed the importance of selecting for chest capacity, uniformity and body conformation when choosing breeding stock.

Mrs. Greene also spoke. She discussed the role that the farmer's wife plays in helping promote pork consumption and how wives could help their husbands in selecting the type of hog that would produce the kind of meat that they prefer to serve.

During the business meeting the name of the Association was changed to that of Greene County Pork Producers to conform with the state and national Association of Pork Producers. Three new directors were elected for a two-year term and they are Billy O. Pembroke of Greenfield, Lee Pohlman and Francis Hartwick of Carrollton. The holdover directors are Francis Kuhline, Greenfield; George Cummings of White Hall and Tom Ballant of Carrollton.

The next regular meeting will be March 12 and the plans for this meeting include a tour of Moorman's research farm and manufacturing plant in Quincy.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

THE GOLD RESERVE REQUIREMENTS?

GOLD, that precious heavy yellow metal, is much in the news these days. Uncle Sam's supply of gold seems to be growing short. Or at least shorter than it has been. The Administration wants to end the 25 percent gold backing for deposits in Federal Reserve Banks. There has been talk in international circles that the dollar would be devalued.

Most citizens are unconcerned. They do not see that their welfare might be affected by gold, or the lack of it. All they want is more money.

But gold is money. Our dollar is gold—1 35 of an ounce. Our paper money is a claim to gold. This gold is in store at the Federal Reserve Banks and the U.S. Treasury.

You and I can get these paper claims, but we can't get gold. That was outlawed in 1933. But foreign banks can get gold in exchange for dollars. And they do. That's where our gold goes. When we put out too many dollars — paper currency and bank deposits — they are presented for payment in gold. We then have to pay off. Our gold stocks shrink.

It's like my checking account and yours. If we write too many checks in relation to our deposits, our balance declines. When our balance declines to zero, our checks lose value. If the check holders lose all hope of collecting, our checks become worthless.

Your bank and mine are required to keep 14 percent of their deposits at a Federal Reserve Bank. The Reserve Banks, in turn, must keep 25 percent as much gold as they have deposits. It is this requirement that will be ended if Congress adopts the Administration's proposal.

There are valid arguments for and against this change. Let's look at some of them.

So long as the Reserve Banks are required to keep 25 percent of their deposits in gold, we cannot use this gold to settle our international obligations. We might become unable to make our dollars good in gold even though we had several billion dollars' worth of gold in our vaults. Ending this requirement would therefore release several billion dollars to meet our obligations to foreign countries.

We need an increasing amount of money and credit in order to permit our economy to grow. But if the gold reserve requirement is maintained, it might prevent needed increases in the supply of currency and credit.

On the other hand, some restriction on the supply of money and credit is needed. If too much is created, demand becomes greater than supply and we have inflation. The result is rising prices — higher costs for most of the things that we buy. This makes our Social Security credits and other savings worth less.

So we should all be concerned about our nation's supply of gold and about what our government does with it.

Changes In National Feed Grain Program Studied By Farmers

Major changes in the 1965 Feed Grain Program deal with a wheat-feed grain substitution provision, normal yields and the amount of the price support payment, according to Duane E. Erickson, University of Illinois extension economist in farm management.

Sign-up for the program is now underway and will continue to March 26 at county ASCS offices.

Farmers who are considering the 1965 program should be familiar with the 1965 Feed Grain Program provisions, study information received from their local ASCS office on yields and diversion payments and then decide whether or not to participate in view of their own farm situation, Erickson says.

The 1965 national average price support of $1.25 a bushel for corn is $1.05 a bushel loan and purchase value plus 20 cents a bushel price support payment, Erickson says. This 20-cent payment is made to farmers participating on the basis of 1959-1963 normal production. The price support payment is limited to 80 percent of the farm base or normal production on acres planted.

In 1964 the price support payment was 15 cents and the loan rate was $1.10 a bushel. Normal yields were based on the 1959-1962 period, Erickson reports.

Payment Rate Varies
Illinois corn support rates under the 1965 program range from $1.24 to $1.29 a bushel for the various counties in the state.

Farmers who did not sign

3 the 1959-1960 acreage must be maintained in order to be eligible for diversion and price support. Land diverted from feed grains must be devoted to conserving crops or uses.

Erickson says that a substitution rule applies when a farmer is signed up in both the 1965 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs if either wheat acreage or feed grain acreage exceeds the permitted acreage for either crop. Payment rates are determined on the basis of whether corn or wheat acreage is exceeded.

He advises farmers to check with the local ASCS office for more details if the substitution rule applies to their farm situation.

Here's the story you saw in Progressive Farmer, describing how a new concept in fertilizers—Super Q—was born. Super Q Corn Starter is made exclusively by A. B. Chrisman Fertilizer Company Meredosia, Illinois

In this advertisement, farm editor John Strohm reports you can satisfy some of the farmers all the time—but, still, that one farmer in five is mighty hard to please!

Top farmers forced us to develop Super Q

BY JOHN STROHM

"Let's face it: Most fertilizer companies had just not kept up with the breakneck pace of today's top farmer—the one farmer in five. He was demanding something no one could give him: a fertilizer made for him. His crop. His area. His methods. His goals. He's the fellow who forced us to develop Super Q."

Dr. Ray Starostka, a quiet man with a burning desire to see farmers break through present yield barriers, was telling me the fascinating story behind Super Q...how a select group of manufacturers pooled their resources... how they hired the best brains to develop a plant food so superior it is guaranteed to make top farmers more profit... how it has outyielded all other fertilizers on corn, barley, potatoes, cotton and tobacco.

Top farmers wanted, needed, and could afford the best that scientific know-how could devise—of this, Ray was convinced. And so he accepted what he calls a "dream assignment" to head up a task force of scientists, technicians and engineers.

"We were told to forget cost-per-ton," he said. "Instead, concentrate on value to the farmer. Nothing like that had ever happened in the fertilizer business."

Out of months of painstaking work—hundreds of tests, extensive fieldwork in many communities—came Super Q, a fertilizer that made history last year. It gave thousands of farmers significantly higher yields and larger profits—this despite the drought!

The reasons for Super Q's success boil down to three "exclusives":

1. Super Q uses the forms of nutrients that are best for the plant. Not what's cheapest, fastest or easiest for the manufacturer.
2. Super Q is custom-made. There's a different formula for each crop, each area. It's sold only to the "one farmer in five" who's going after record yields.
3. Super Q is as up-to-date as your calendar. Super Q formulas change quickly, change automatically every time new research, new engineering or changing moisture conditions dictate a revision.

Did you know that one 10-10-10 formulation can produce 25 bushels more corn per acre than another 10-10-10? It's so! Same numbers, true enough—but the nutrients are as different to the corn plant as hamburger and soybean cakes to you and me.

That's why numbers on your fertilizer bag tell you only half the story. You can see how many units of N, P and K you're buying, but not what form. Super Q uses only the best—for your specific conditions. (Example: Super Q for corn in Michigan is quite different from Super Q for corn in Ohio.)

I hear some bittersweet comments from manufacturers that Super Q is not easy to make. It frequently slows down plant production. It is more exacting to formulate. One plant had to install $65,000 worth of new equipment.

So, Super Q does cost more per ton. But the higher priced fertilizer can be the cheapest, and vice versa. I have just compiled a national study of farm records (1965—Ford Profit Planner): Average managers with 85-bushel corn yields had production costs of 83¢ per bushel and profits of $20 an acre. Top managers with 120-bushel yields, due in part to $10 an acre more invested in fertilizer and lime, had total production costs of only 70¢ a bushel and $37 an acre profit.

And no question that Super Q is the very best of all. When a top farmer buys Super Q, he can rest assured he is hiring the best brains of the agronomist, the weatherman, the soils expert, the chemist and the engineer. Best by just one yardstick: profit.

What The Space Age Is Doing For You

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

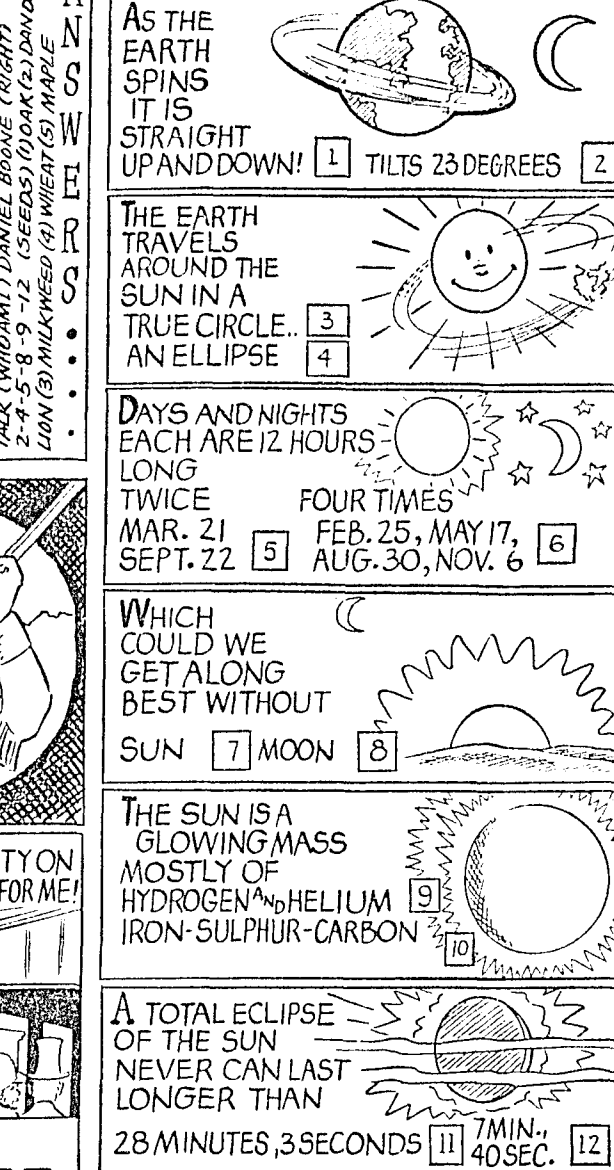

In the little more than seven years since the first Sputnik went beeping across the sky the space age has reached into all our lives in many important and sometimes surprising ways. Some of these contributions, such as relay and weather satellites, were gained through deliberate attempts to make the space useful. Spring Game

By Emma Mae Leonhard

When February comes, many people begin playing the game of who-will-see-the-first-Robin-this-spring? Somebody always wins by seeing the first Robin in February. Of course, that Robin could have been in our area in January or during the winter, living on the Multiflora Rose hips, barberry fruits, dried elderberries or wild grapes, and other abundant fruits. Or it could have migrated early from southern Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, or Arkansas. Four of us who chanced to drive through this territory in January saw many Robins there. How many people, however, play the game of who-will-see-the-first-Bluebird-this-spring? The competition may be keener in this contest, for the majority of people don't succeed in finding one even during the summer. And it must be keener, for Bluebirds are quite scarce in our area.

A few of us bird lovers can never be satisfied until we have seen the first Bluebird. We begin looking and listening in February for this certain promise of spring. Even before the Robin has moved up to our northern section, and before the grass has greened from the cold February rains or melting snow, we may be lucky enough to hear that plaintive "chur-wi!" of the Bluebird.

Then we stop breathlessly to catch a glimpse of this most beloved and welcome bird. It may not be long until we see this bright blue bird with a rosy breast drop down from a low gray bare twig to the tawny sodden grass, pick up something, and fly back to its perch. And we gaze at this "sign of spring" with a deepest contentment.

We feel sure that at least one pair of Bluebirds will be here before February is gone. On January 31 as we were driving through the northeastern part of Arkansas, we enjoyed a day full of Bluebirds. In places they were strung along the telephone wires like turquoise and sapphires. At times a flock, like a bundle of blue feathers, floated to the heads of seed-bearing weeds and rested there like precious spring ornaments.

Many a time when we thought we had driven out of the Bluebird haunts, we caught sight of a single bird on a fence post, a shrub or low branch of a tree, or on the grassy shoulder of the highway.

What a Bluebird day it was! And we are confident that some of these Bluebirds are on their way to our area so that we may play who-will-see-the-first-Bluebird-this spring? Goodluck!

Remember Your Valentine

By Mary Pence Claywell

Cupid's always had a way, that none can analyze... His aim, unchanged, stays just the same, as years go rolling by: And 'though he works all seasons, there is a special time, When LOVE bursts into fullest bloom, with "Be... My Valentine!" The "bashful" find an outlet, for sentiment, so deep, At other times, kept hidden... no courage, so to speak: But love grows bold, on paper "hearts," and words flow fast... by pen, And Cupid, in the candy box, that some shy fellow sends: And girls too, grow courageous... "All's fair in love," they say. And try to help "John Aldens," speak out their love... today: I'm sure a pretty Valentine... Heart-shaped in loveliness, Is close akin to Thine Own, Lord... so full of Love for us: We thank Thee, for Thy Tender Love, that liveth through all time, And help us to express our own, in, "Be My Valentine."

What a Bluebird day it was! And we are confident that some of these Bluebirds are on their way to our area so that we may play who-will-see-the-first-Bluebird-this spring? Goodluck!

through the northeastern part of Arkansas, we enjoyed a day full of Bluebirds. In places they were strung along the telephone wires like turquoise and sapphires. At times a flock, like a bundle of blue feathers, floated to the heads of seed-bearing weeds and rested there like precious spring ornaments.

Many a time when we thought we had driven out of the Bluebird haunts, we caught sight of a single bird on a fence post, a shrub or low branch of a tree, or on the grassy shoulder of the highway.

What a Bluebird day it was! And we are confident that some of these Bluebirds are on their way to our area so that we may play who-will-see-the-first-Bluebird-this spring? Goodluck!

GUILTY

By John Rankin

Sid gets his parents' permission to go in the car to the dance in the nearby town, with his friend Tom at the wheel because Tom is known to be a careful driver even though he is still in his teens. As they go along, Sid says wistfully that he wishes he were old enough to drive, and Tom hints that he might drive right then even though he does not have a license. As Sid hesitates, Tom encourages him. "Sure, why not? No cops on the road at this hour or nothing," Tom pointed out. Then he began slowing down and pulled off on the shoulder and brought the car to a stop. Sid scrambled over to the driver's side and eased the sedan back on the pavement. Elated with the power at his command Sid cruised the first mile or so at 40 — then 50 — and had settled down to an even 60 when Tom glanced down at the speedometer. "Ah, you're hardly moving," Tom laughed. "You afraid to let her out or something?"

No Chicken Sid's face reddened. "Who, me afraid? I ain't scared of nothing," he boasted. Then he leaned over the steering wheel and pressed his foot down hard on the accelerator and the powerful sedan zoomed into action. Tom reached over to give the younger boy an encouraging slap on the back. "Hey, kid, you're loaded with cold nerve," he cheered. "Let's see how fast you can take this curve up ahead."

Flattered by the older boy's praising remarks Sid swung in to the curve with tires screeching as the car swerved crazily and then, from nowhere it seemed, the form of a man popped up only inches ahead of the bumper!

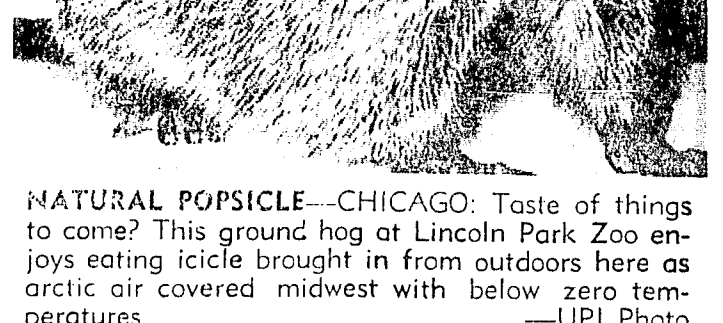

"Look out!" Tom's warning cry came too late. A sickening thud — a man's hat flying through the air — and the body was hurled out of sight down a steep embankment! For a fleeting second the car fishtailed and buckled as Sid hit the brake. Then as the impact of the tragedy struck home he stepped on the gas and sped from the scene. For several moments both boys stared in stunned silence as the car clicked off the miles. Then the ominous wailing of a police car came from up ahead. "Somebody's called the cops," Tom gasped. "We'd better duck down the first side road we come to."

At a secluded point hidden from the highway by a cornfield Sid brought the car to a halt and switched off the lights. Moments later a patrol car and an ambulance roared by. Trouble A-Plenty "Guess we're in plenty of trouble now," Sid lamented. "My dad will skin me alive when he finds out about it!" "Mine too," Tom said sadly. "But I feel worse about that poor guy we hit."

Sid nodded agreement. "Yeah, you think the police will get wise to us?" "Let's beat it home before they do," Tom suggested. "Uncle Stuart used to be a state trooper... he'll know what to do." "Yeah, have to talk to somebody," Sid nodded feebly. "But hey, it's too late for that. Here comes a car pulling in here right now!"

Country Boy To Statesman

(Excerpts from a paper on the life of Abraham Lincoln read by Don Robinson at the February meeting of the Jacksonville Civil War Roundtable.)

THOMAS LINCOLN
A GOOD TEACHER

Thomas Lincoln taught his son about the plain hard facts of life as they worked together trying to convert the frontier into something that resembled a farm. It was through his father that Abe experienced the intimate interaction of people in a face-to-face frontier culture. His humor and ability to come up with the perfect example at precisely the correct moment forever reflected his frontier experiences and showed a keen awareness of human nature. This mild-mannered and soft-spoken "rube" was not stymied by the sophisticates of society. He noted his deficiencies and tried to correct them without ever becoming so much "improved" as to lose sight of the humility passed on to him by his father. In all his greatness, he remained a man of plainness.

During the autumn of 1830 the Lincoln family left Indiana and located about eight miles from Decatur, Ill., quite close to the Sangamon river. And again, the new homestead was on the frontier. Abe was about twenty-one years old — tall, lean and lank. He had great strength and was not ungainly in a good old frontier hold-your-own-brawl.

LITTLE FORMAL EDUCATION
Lincoln's early education was the same as any other frontier child. It was no worse nor better than the average frontier family was able to give their children or expected to give them. However, he had at least two distinct advantages: (1) an insatiable desire to learn and (2) a democratic milieu dedicated to the ideal that every individual under its influence shall be encouraged to reach toward complete fulfillment. Lincoln made the most of this opportunity for as long as he lived. There were some everlasting deficiencies as one might suspect, and there is abundant evidence to consider spelling as his paramount failure. Yet, the diaries of rather well and very well educated people of this period are marked with frequent misspellings too. It is the vocabulary and the extraordinary phrases of the Lincoln speeches and papers that indicate his great intellect, an intellect sparked in the log cabin, explored in New Salem, sophisticated while a lawyer and politician and aged to maturity as a statesman and President.

FORMATIVE YEARS IN NEW SALEM

New Salem was small, but it was home-town to Lincoln. There probably was never over two dozen houses and none of them cost over a hundred dollars to build. Its life was only the brief span of seven years and Lincoln lived there six of those uneventful years. They set him upon a course of continual self-improvement. It was here that he met the people who helped this twenty-one year old rough neck find his niche in life. They were immediately captivated by his humor and inquisitive nature. Like-minded men saw his unusual potential as an infrequent human resource on the frontier. They fell under its spell and were compelled to explore it and determine its depth. Dr. John Allan, John Cameron, James Rutledge and Peter Cartwright influenced Lincoln's religious attitude. Mentor Graham taught him grammar, mathematics and surveying. Jack Kelo introduced him to Shakespeare, Burns and Byron. Ann Rutledge and Lincoln made plans to attend college for at least one year but her death in 1835 ruined this plan. She was going to Illinois Female Academy and he was going to Illinois College, both in Jacksonville, Illinois.

TEMPERED BY THE 8th DISTRICT

The Eighth Judicial District was large and enabled Lincoln to meet a great many important men along the four hundred mile journey about the circuit. His wife found it nearly impossible to adjust to his eleven and twelve week absences from home and it caused an almost unbearable domestic problem between them. But they were extremely advantageous to his Congressional ambitions. He became very active in the Whig party machinery and designed a pathway into Congress. He agreed to support Hardin of Jacksonville in 1842 and Baker of Springfield in 1844, and these men were to support him in 1846. After serving one term in Congress, 1846 to 1848, Lincoln again retreated from front-line politics for a while and took up his law practice.

GROOMED FOR THE PRESIDENCY

The coming years were to see Lincoln become one of the most influential lawyers and politicians in Illinois. The popularity he established among the influential men and the important newspapers around the circuit played a vital role in his subsequent political accomplishments. By 1856 he was the respected leader of the newly formed Republican party and his avenue toward Capitol Hill was being paved by the respected newspapers and Republican politicians in Illinois. This man was being groomed by the Illinois Republicans to be their favorite son nominee at the 1860 Republican National Convention. The Wigwag was to go down in history.

Library Gets Lincoln's Casket Table

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The table on which the casket bearing the body of Abraham Lincoln rested during the journey of the Lincoln Funeral Train from Washington, D.C. to Springfield a century ago has been presented to the Illinois State Historical Library, Clyde C. Walton, state historian, announced.

The marble-topped walnut table, 6 feet long and 26½ inches wide, was a gift from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

At the time of Lincoln's assassination the table was in the railroad's Washington office and was loaned to the government for use on the funeral train. Following its historic 13-day, 1,700-mile journey the table was placed in the waiting room of the railroad's Wilmington, Del., station. There it remained until 1929, when it was moved to the general office in Philadelphia.

The Lincoln Funeral Train began its journey on April 21, 1865, in Washington. At ten cities along the route—Baltimore, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, New York City, Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Indianapolis and Chicago—the body was removed from the train to a place where it could be seen by a grieving public. The train arrived in Springfield on the morning of May 3, and the burial took place the following day.

Walton said the old table supplements a collection of articles the Historical Library has from the Lincoln funeral car. They are a six-foot-long settee, a barber's chair, a small folding chair known as a "pallbearer's chair," and the original silver name plate from the casket.

These mementos will be part of a special exhibit in the Historical Library in observance of the centennial anniversary of Lincoln's assassination on April 14.

HUMORS of the day

If it blows we shall be pretty certain to have wind; if not, it will be more or less calm — perhaps both more or less, or even neither.

Should we have any rain it is more than probable that we shall have wet weather. Should it freeze we may look for a thaw sooner or later.

The state of the weather for the first half of the year will be sort of weather we have for the next six months.

FACTS NEVER TO BE LOST SIGHT OF — That wide-awake people always keep their eyes open and what's more, if you don't keep your eyes open they'll open them for you.

FORECASTS — The day after tomorrow will be fine if not otherwise and the same may be pronounced about the two following days.

The whole of next week will vary considerably, unless there is a continuous run of weather of one character.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal
MAJ. GENERAL — Gen. B. H. Grierson of Jacksonville is now in Washington City, and has been Brevetted Maj. General. Bully for Ben; he has earned his additional star.

ROBBERIES — Rascality and thieving seem to have been rampant during the last few days. At Springfield three of the hotels have been visited by light-fingered gentry, and many of the boarders and guests relieved of money, watches and other valuables, to the amount of several hundred dollars, and no definite clues had to the thieves.

On Monday night a robbery of the shoe store of David Hamilton, of this city, consisting of ten pair of fine calf boots, one dozen calf skins, and two dozen sheep skins, to the amount of $250, was perpetrated, and as yet no evidence has been elicited to implicate any person.

DRAFT POSTPONED — By reference to the order from the Adjutant General, to be found in another column, it will be seen that while volunteering continues brisk, no draft will be ordered. This will give us time to fill our quota in Jacksonville.

SCALAWAGS — This city and county are tolerably well filled up with a lot of worthless scoundrels who, having no visible means of support, are justly suspected with being the nucleus for forming just such desperate bands of thieves and robbers, as have been preying upon our neighboring counties for the past year. Morgan has escaped pretty well so far, but the indications now are, that we are to be annoyed the coming Spring with the attentions of such scamps as have been run out of surrounding countries. Our citizens should be on their guard.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
THE DRAFT — The draft call has not been set. It is now authoritatively stated the quota for Morgan county is 350. The sub-district quotas are: Jacksonville 113, Meredosia 24, Concord 12, Arcadia 12, Yatesville 31, Mauvaisterre 4, Sulphur Springs 20, Waverly 39, Franklin 31, Wrights, 31, Lynnville 17, Bethel 15.

The citizens of Jacksonville, without distinction of party, have been making patriotic and vigorous efforts to save the precinct from the draft. At the several public meetings held, and during the intervening periods, about $20,000 have been raised and paid out to volunteers up to Tuesday. Forty men have enlisted and credited to the precinct, leaving a balance of 60 men due, after receiving credit for enlistments since January 1st.

The legislature of this state has appropriated $25,000 to purchase the grave of Douglas. The State Fair Committee have decided that the next State Fair will be held in Chicago.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
Wednesday last was pay day for our railroad hands, and in consequence, after receiving their pay they were feeling fine, and the praises bestowed on their employers were without limit.

Mr. Wm. L. Greene has laid off an addition to the Carrollton grave yard and proposes to sell the lots at public sale. This is a good piece of ground, lying south of the grave yard and is a very desirable place for the purpose.

SPLASH RED PAINT ON RED MISSION TO U.N.
NEW YORK (AP) — A bottle of red paint was smashed Friday against the front of the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

Salt: Cheapest Ingredient In The Ration

CHICAGO: In an enlightening comparison, Dr. T. W. Perry of Purdue University has listed the returns from the expenditure of one dime for the different feed additives in beef cattle rations.

Quoted in the current issue of the Salt Digest, Dr. Perry computed that adding antibiotics will return 25 to 50 cents for each dime invested. Feeding or implanting stilbestrol may return 76 cents to $1 and adding 20,000 units of Vitamin A per head per day there is a return of $6 for every 10 cents invested.

Experiments in Kansas, the Salt Digest reports, showed each pound of salt fed to steers brought about a live weight gain of 8.2 pounds, and saved 312 pounds of silage and 13.5 pounds of soybean oil meal.

At going prices for salt and feed, an investment of 10 cents in salt brought about a return of $12 in feed saved, besides causing a 55-pound increase in gain.

An even more striking return from feeding salt, compared with not feeding it, was shown by Purdue's Professor Vestal who found one pound of salt saved 287 pounds of feed for growing-fattening pigs.

Again using current prices, this meant that investing a dime's worth of salt brought a return of $57.40.

Not all salt experiments showed such great savings. At Saskatchewan and Wisconsin one pound of salt saved from 8 to 10 pounds of feed and a dime's worth of salt brought a return of $1.60 to $2.00, still a profitable investment.

Other stories in the Salt Digest detail salt's role as a carrier of trace minerals, foot rot preventives, vitamins and other additives of value in modern livestock production.

Arenzville Farm Family Honored By Soil Group

The Cass County Soil Conservation district held a successful and enjoyable meeting at the American Legion Hall in Virginia Feb. 1. The Legion Auxiliary served a ham supper. W. S. Campbell presided and called on Russell Meredith, farm adviser, who spoke on the Extension activities in the county during the year.

John Pierce, work unit conservationist, reviewed the 1964 accomplishments of the district co-operators and illustrated some of the work done with slides.

The nominating committee for two new directors was headed by Ray Cline. They nominated W. S. Campbell and Herbert Witte for directors to serve for two years and they were elected unanimously.

Mike Massie, senior at Beardstown high school, who attended the Boys' Forestry Camp in Southern Illinois, gave a very interesting report on his activities while at the camp and urged the continuation of this program.

Robert Walker, Extension conservationist of the University of Illinois, gave an interesting illustrated talk on "Soil Loss in Illinois." George Petfish, of the Harrison Oil Co., presented the Annual Goodyear Award for outstanding conservation farming to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweatman of Arenzville Township.

Gun Duel at Tiedown

By Nelson C. Nye

THE STORY: Someone took a shot at Grisswell, but only grazed his ear. Sheriff Jones rides out to the ranch and meets Cathie there.

NH

Cathie's lifted hands closed round her face and for a couple of heartbeats she stood wholly still, peering out. "Who—who is it?" she called in a thin, frightened voice.

Butterfly gulped. "Price Jones," he said, and she flung open the screen to hurry pretty out and stop at the top of the steps, widely staring, while Jones' pounding heart threatened to burst from his chest.

"Is it really you?" And when he said that it was, and got out of the saddle, she ran down the steps to bury her face against his chest. He could feel her shake through the moan of her sobs.

Over her head Price Jones scowled fiercely.

She got hold of herself, quick enough when he said, "You know? I been thinkin' Be a fine how-de-do an' six hands around if that prissymouthed Shores or some other hired hand—aksully a far door that opened out of the corral. "Did Eldon tell you one of our horses was killed? One of our bred mares in foal to Jubal Jo." Cathie said. "She'd been having some trouble is why Daddy was out here. And this is where they were," she said, pointing—"in that corner there by the tank."

Butterfly held up the lantern. "What happened to the mare?"

"She's dead," Cathie shut. "One of those bullets I'd like to see your father—"

"You'll have to wait till tomorrow then. I gave him a see that it made much difference. He couldn't learn anything from eyeing a dead horse. He did think, though, they might have waited till he got here before burying her."

He said, walking besides her. "You have much trouble finding?"

"Not too much. One of the hands saw the fellow when he was trying to get away."

"Saw him?" Jones stopped. "Just a glimpse as the man went tearing off through the brush—over beyond our south fence, you know."

Jones eyed her sharply. "Toward Spangler's Hat Creek range?"

"Well, yes, if that's what's south of us. I don't really know. I've been so upset about Daddy."

"Anyone pick up his sign?"

"The boy that caught that glimpse of him tried. He left a pretty plain trail till he climbed from the wash."

When the tracks ran out in that lava spill Joe followed them back up here to this hill, which is how we discovered where the shots had come from."

Puffing a little from the exertion of the climb they moved into the trees. This was more a clump than any real kind of woods, scarcely shoulder high, a tiny jungle of canes topped by spots of foliage. Jones, boring deeper, holding up the lantern, picked out the dry gulcher's nest from a trail of broken branches. He found three cigarette stubs, hand rolled, and one ejected cartridge case but the ground was too hard for any useful prints.

After pocketing the shell he shoved on through with his eyes peeled for horse tracks. He found tracks, two sets, so inextricably mixed not even a Chinese lawyer would have been able to unravel them.

Burglars Loot Jewelry Store At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — For the third time in five years, the Frank Myer jewelry store here has been burglarized, the most recent theft was discovered by the owner when he opened the store at 9 a.m. Friday.

Authorities said a display case in the store was stripped of its contents, including watches, rings, cigarette lighters and numerous items of men's and women's jewelry. The safe and its contents remained unharmed. Police said entrance was gained through a hole cut in the roof of the building, directly above the store room.

No estimate of the loss has been made, pending an inventory of the store's contents.

A $10,000 burglary took place at the Myer store five years ago. Another burglary, in which an estimated $3,500 worth of jewelry was taken, occurred three years ago. Neither case has been solved.

Beardstown city police, Cass County officers and investigators from Springfield are conducting an investigation.

Old-fashioned "Papa-Mama" bidding brought Ivan Erdos and Kelsey Petterson of Los Angeles to game in the U.S. team trials for world title play, but it required considerably more than "Papa-Mama" play for Ivan to bring his contract home.

He won the opening club lead and decided he could not afford to lead trumps twice from dummy, so he played his king of hearts. West ducked, whereupon Ivan ruffed a club in dummy and led a second trump. When East played the jack, Ivan had jumped one hurdle. He was going to lose only one trump trick.

If West had been kind enough to play a diamond or a third club, Ivan would have had no trouble making five odd, but West made his best possible play. He led the four of spades.

It was now up to Ivan to play the right spade from dummy and he did just that. He played dummy's deuce.

East's jack forced Ivan's ace. He drew West's last trump and played the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace. A second diamond lead cleared the suit and naturally Ivan unblocked with the ten.

West led the six of spades

Put summer back into your complexion with a humidifier

5 DAY FREE HOME TRIAL

Why put up with dry, uncomplimentary skin, chapped lips and "fuzzy", unmanageable hair? It's your heating system that is doing the damage—by stealing vital moisture from the air and leaving it dry, uncomfortable. You feel it in dried-out nasal passages. You see it in the loose joints of your furniture.

Solution? Restore the proper amount of moisture the fast, modern way.

Try this automatic Toastmaster humidifier in your home for five days without obligation. Feel how quickly it puts gallons of moisture back into your home. And puts summer back into your complexion. Then buy on convenient terms if you wish. Phone our office. Or come in.

S. Bend Paper Features Story On S. Magdala

The magazine section of the South Bend Tribune last Sunday, Feb. 7th, carried a colored picture of a revered and well known personality in Jacksonville, Sister Magdala, C.S.C.

Sister Magdala, formerly Administrator at Holy Cross (Our Saviour's) Hospital in Jacksonville, is now archivist at St. Joseph's Hospital in South Bend. Sister Magdala is the last of the first three graduates of St. Joseph Hospital's School of Nursing and feature writer Sarah Lockerbie uses material received from an interview with the former Jacksonville nun, now 75 years of age, to gain an excellent story about the dedicated and devoted nun-nurse-teacher-administrator and confidante.

Sister M. Nazaria, C.S.C. and current administrator at Holy Cross Hospital visited South Bend last weekend and ordered one hundred copies of the magazine section of the South Bend paper which she is distributing throughout the hospital, to doctors, members of the Lay Advisory Board, Hospital Auxiliary and other interested persons.

Sister Magdala is now confined to either her bed or a wheel chair but continues her cheerful way of life and as the article concludes: "She makes her small niche the brightest stopping place in any passerby's day."

Job Corps Rotary Topic At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Rev. Jerrold Wheeler introduced County Superintendent of Schools Charles K. Barnett to fellow members of the Rotary Club Feb. 10. Supt. Barnett discussed the drop-out situation in the schools and spoke also of the Job Corps program promoted by the government which will be in force in Greene county.

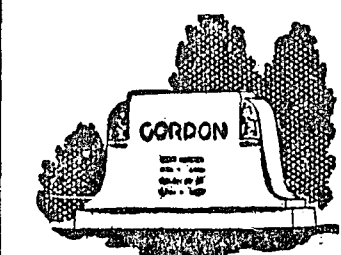

Rev. Wheeler later introduced the following North Greene High school students who provided the musical portion of the program: Bob Kerr, Barry Martin, Dennis Kress, Mike Painter, Beverly Savage and their music supervisor, Miss Carol Hayes. Two of the students, Beverly Savage and Barry Martin, had entered in the Rotary song contest and had written the words for the Rotary club use which they sang to familiar tunes. Both young people were awarded prizes by the local club. Beverly sang her words to "My Wild Irish Rose" and Barry to "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Howard Starr, Jacksonville, was a visiting Rotarian. Student guests were John Gill and Jim Besaw. The dinner was served by the Little League Mothers.

ESTES BURIED WITH HONOR IN ANACONDA

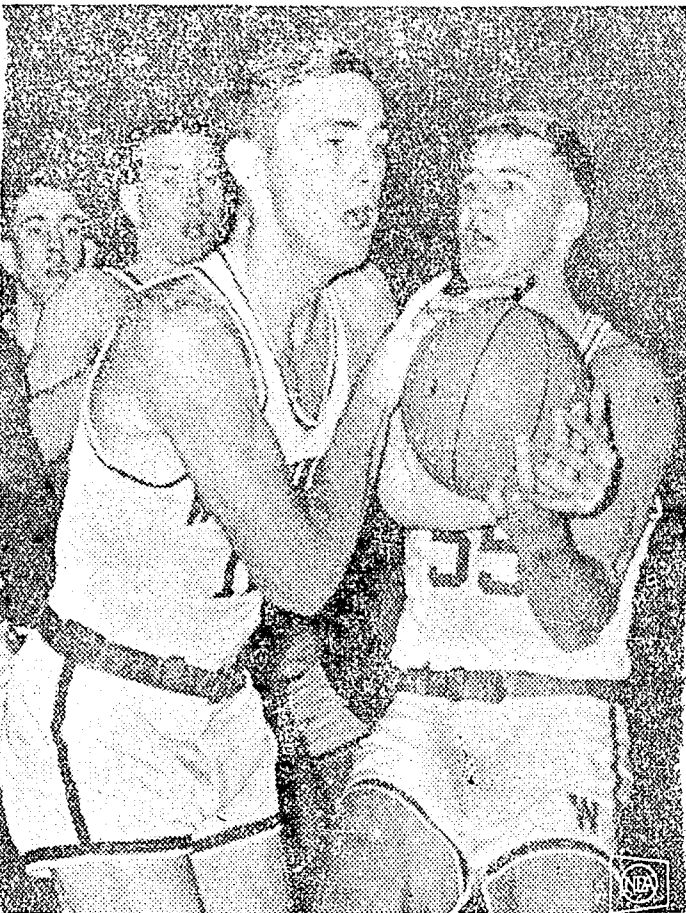

ANACONDA, Mont. (AP) — Wayne Estes, who wrote new chapters in basketball history in Montana and at Utah State University, was buried Friday in his home town.

Flags were at half staff at 13 public buildings. Business establishments and schools were closed for the funeral.

Estes, 21, was killed Monday, two hours after he had scored the basket giving him 2,001 points in his college career. He accidentally walked into a 2,300-volt electrical wire knocked from its pole by an auto accident.

Funeral services were at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Anaconda. Public services followed in the high school gymnasium where Wayne started his rise to basketball fame.

Estes was the nation's second leading collegiate scorer and only the 13th to ever surpass 2,000 points in a college career.

Fight Cancelled When Sponsors Fail On Purse

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A scheduled middleweight fight between Sugar Ray Robinson and a little known Tampa boxer was called off at the last moment Friday night when the sponsors failed to give the middleweight king his purse ahead of time.

Robinson, seated in a hotel room one floor above the ballroom where the fight was to take place, told newsmen:

"They don't have a boxing commission here. Since they don't, this was our agreement, that I would get my money before the fight."

Canadian Sonny Moore, who was billed as Robinson's opponent, came down with the flu. Earl Basting of Tampa was substituted.

Robinson said he had tried throughout the day to find out who would guarantee him his $4,000 purse and $1,000 for expenses.

The fight was to be staged in the ballroom of a Clearwater hotel. Tickets cost $15 which included a dinner and three preliminary fights. There were seats for 1,200. Only 300 showed up.

Rodriguez Whips Carter In Ten

NEW YORK (AP) — Although he was floored in the seventh round, Cuban Luis Rodriguez boxed his way to a unanimous decision over middleweight contender Rubin (Hurricane) Carter of Clifton, N.J., in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The deftly executed victory over the hard-hitting, third-ranking middleweight lifted the former welterweight champion high among the elite of the 160-pound class.

Surging back after the knockdown, the clever, fleet-footed Cuban took the final three rounds on the cards of all three officials to sweep the verdict.

Judges Al Berl and Tony Rossi each had Rodriguez ahead in rounds 7-9. Referee Johnny Lo Bianco voted for Rodriguez 63-1. The Associated Press had Rodriguez in front 63-1.

Rodriguez, who weighed 151 to Carter's 154½, was the 2-1 favorite.

In the seventh, Rodriguez became careless. He dropped his left and Carter shot over a solid right to the jaw that sent Rodriguez tottering to the ropes.

Carter followed with a left hook and right to the jaw that sent Rodriguez through the ropes and onto the apron of the ring.

Luis climbed back into the ring at the count of four and was given the mandatory eight count.

He then brought the crowd of 10,366 to its feet by trading punches with his over-anxious foe until the bell sounded.

WAVERLY — Chuck Ross hit a driving layup at the final buzzer here Friday night, capping a 54-52 Waverly upset over the Franklin Flashes in a MSM contest.

With the score tied at 52-52, Waverly held the ball the final 10 seconds, with Ross putting the Scotties up at the buzzer.

The nip and tuck contest saw both teams lead then fall behind. The Scotties led by one after the first quarter, but a 17-10 second-period difference gave Franklin a 33-27 halftime margin.

Waverly came back to take the lead again in the third quarter and throw the game even closer.

Late in the period, with the game tied at 48-48, Waverly's Steve Timmons hit a bucket and Larry Ryan followed with two more for a 52-48 edge.

Franklin came back on a Bill Forbes jumper and a pair of gift shots by Bill Gordon to tie the contest, setting the stage for Ross' bucket.

Timmons led Waverly with 20 points, while Ross added 12. Gordon hit 20 and Cron 11 for the losers.

St. Mary's Dumps ISD By 80-58

MT. STERLING — Behind the 25 point and 18 rebound performance of center Joe Geisler, the St. Mary's Eagles dumped the ISD Tigers by an 80-58 count in a contest played here Friday night.

The Eagles opened-up an early 11-3 lead midway through the first quarter, but turned cold and had to settle for a 15-11 advantage after the first eight minutes of play.

ISD came back with two quick buckets to start the second frame, knotting the score at 15-15. Finding the range in second straight loss and fourth in 20 games.

Dean Hess, spelling the injured Dennis Sergeant, sank both ends of a clutch one-and-one situation with 25 seconds left in regulation time to send the game into overtime.

Jacksonville, in a near repeat of the earlier one-point loss to the Panthers, came alive in a decisive third quarter in which they held Eisenhower scoreless for the first four minutes and 20 seconds and came from a halftime deficit to take the lead.

Neither team hit exceptionally well from the floor, as JHS hit the best at 37.5% to Eisenhower's even 37% clip. Eisenhower held a slight 34-28 edge off the boards.

Creston Whitaker, coming off a sparkling 32-point performance the last time out, again was the game's standout performer, gathering 29 points, hitting on 13 of 16 foul shots and eight from the field.

The win boosts the Panther record to 18-3, 6-0 in the conference, as compared to Jacksonville's 16-4 and 4-3 Capitol mark.

From the fourth quarter on the game turned into a march from one foul stripe to the other, especially in the overtime, as 11 of the 13 points in the three-minute stretch came on gift shots, and only two shots from the field were taken.

The game was tied four times in the first quarter. Jacksonville jumped off to a 4-0 edge in Whitaker's quick three-point move and Steve Bone's free toss, but the Decatur outfit quickly shot ahead with Booker Horges, John Eubanks and Dave McCrary combining for six for a 6-6 tie.

Three straight times the Panthers would match Crimson buckets for ties at eight, ten and 12, before Carl Jenkins hit a 15-footer and a tip underneath for a final 16-13 first quarter margin.

Bad Second Quarter

The second quarter started off disastrously for the visitors, as the Jacks went scoreless the first three minutes and two minutes at another stretch and Eisenhower breezed to a pair of nine-point leads, 26-17 and 28-19.

Late buckets by Dennis Wegehoff, Ron Coleman and Whitaker, on a steal with three seconds left, cut the intermission difference to 28-23.

The third quarter belonged largely to the Jacks. Three free losses, a bucket by Whitaker and a pair of free throws by Bone sent Jacksonville into the front, 3-29, with half the period played.

Eisenhower finally got rolling and despite five more straight charity throws, trailed by only 37-36 at the end of the third stanza.

The lead changed hands six straight times in the opening four minutes of the final eight minutes, with neither team leading by more than a single point.

Leads Change

Four straight free tosses by Whitaker ran the score to 46-43 Jacksonville with 3:40 to play. Dale Stevens, 6-6 center, hit a pair from the same spot. Mylon Sanders added another and Stevens and Horges canned buckets for the Panthers in a hot stretch for a 50-46 edge with 1:20 left.

Whitaker missed a one-and-one chance and Coleman also failed with one minute left. Whitaker canned a 15-footer with 50 seconds remaining for a 50-48 count.

Eisenhower also missed an important free toss chance with 40 seconds left and Hess then canned both of his for a 50-50 deadlock. A late Panther attempt fell short with three seconds left to send the game into an extra three-minute period.

The lead changed hands four straight times in the opening seconds of the overtime. Coleman, Whitaker and Hess combined for four for the Jacks, while Jenkins and Horges added six and a 56-54 edge with :37 to play.

Jacksonville gave the ball back the next time down the floor when Bone was called for three seconds in the lane, then again on a bad pass to give the Panthers still another chance to ice.

Sanders missed the first of a crucial one-and-one with 12 seconds to play, but McCrary grabbed off the important rebound and was immediately fouled, making the first to ice the contest. Whitaker hit a driving layup as the gun sounded.

WORLD'S SMALLEST HEARING AID?

It's no trick to make the "world's smallest" hearing aid, washing machine, automobile, or anything else. What counts is, WILL IT DO THE JOB? If you have a hearing loss, a certain amount of power is required to help you hear well again, and if a hearing aid doesn't have that power, it won't do you any good, no matter what its size.

We feature fine quality MAICO hearing aids—over a dozen models to fit every correctable hearing loss and wearing preference. MAICO, for nearly thirty years The Most Respected Name in Hearing, makes hearing aids TO CORRECT HEARING LOSSES, not for their novelty value.

If you would like full information on the complete MAICO line of fine quality hearing aids and what they can do to help YOUR individual hearing problem, come in, call or write.
